Commuters Christen A 'Ferry'

By PAUL PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A band of commuters demanding the Golden Gate Bridge District cut the cost of its ferry system instead of hiking tolls today christened an ancient barge it said was "all the poor commuters can afford."

The battered World War II LCM landing craft was festooned with deflated balloons and banners put up yesterday by the Golden Gate Commuters Association, which claims some 300 members.

Its officers also claimed today they will attempt to put the rusted hulk into regular commuter service between Sausalito and Murphy Tugboat Company's landing at Pier 9, where it was displayed for newsmen early today. The company uses the barge to haul construction equipment.

Among the impediments to using the barge for commuter service, however, would be the cost of hiring a two-man crew to carry only 25 passengers once each way, and permits from the Coast Guard, California Public Utilities Commission, City of Sausalito, San Francisco Port Commission and Golden Gate Bridge district, which owns the float at the Sausalito landing.

A Murphy Tugboat officer told the Independent-Journal it would cost roughly $50,000 just to bring the open barge up to minimum standards to qualify for Coast Guard certification for commuter use.

The stunt was arranged by Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon, a member of the commuters association. He long has been an outspoken opponent of district plans for the $25 million ferry system to start next June. He also has testified against it on behalf of the San Francisco Chamber of Commmerce.

Farlatti told the I-J later this morning he favors a ferry system, but a more modest one than the version being built by the bridge district. Conceding the barge was "the other extreme," he said he was looking for "a happy medium" that could carry up to 200 persons and cost "a couple hundred thousand dollars."

About a dozen commuters association members cheered the christening by Len Smith and Adele Nolan, both of Mill Valley. President and vice president, respectively of the association, they whacked the prow with a bottle of pink champagne. Other bottles were used to keep spectators warm at the frigid site.

Miss Nolan first named the barge the "Grapes of Wrath," then changed it to "Love."

The association originally planned to make an inaugural voyage across the bay, but the Coast Guard caught wind of the plan and killed the idea.

Bridge District officials have pointed out that most of the $4 million in additional revenue that would be raised by a 75-cent toll would go to offset bus transit deficits.

Grand Jury Says Water Directors Defeated Bonds

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District came under fire today from the county grand jury which said the district board "contributed materially" to the defeat of its own $7.5 million water bond issue this month.

"From our observation ... (the board's) own vacillation, self-contradictions and noticeable lack of leadership in providing information to the electorate, were chief factors in the defeat of your own bond issue," the grand jury said.

The grand jury's sharp criticism, which in places teetered on charges of dereliction by some board members, was forwarded today by letter to district directors. The letter was dated Friday.

It was prepared by two grand jury committees — local government and environment — and signed by grand jury foreman F. Charles Ruegg.

The grand jury reported the cost of the unsuccessful election — defeated 2 to 1 by voters — was $22,000 and offered its criticism to "assist in remedying the problems and thus preventing unnecessary waste of rate payers' money" during the next election, tentatively set for April.

"We are not unaware of the socio-political philosophy respecting county growth which led to the election of some members of your board," the grand jury wrote, "nor is it our function to pass upon the merits or demerits of conflicting political philosophies.

"However, when political convictions demonstrably interfere with the proper performance of county functions, it is the duty of the grand jury to intervene. In our opinion, this is the situation in this MMWD muddle."

(Some members of the water district board have been accused of trying to limit county growth through the recently imposed moratorium on new water connections.)

The grand jury noted a majority of the district directors refused to endorse the water bond, adding "two members were more or less neutral and one in outright opposition."

The two members "more or less neutral" were Dr. Martin Griffin and Jack R. Felson, the latter an announced candidate for the state Assembly. Dr. Ronald Stafford was an outspoken critic of the measure.

The grand jury letter said Stafford had declined to cooperate with the grand jury — missing several interviews and failing to respond to written questions sent him.

Criticisms of the water board included its failure promptly to prepare and distribute a "fact sheet" on the bond election, failure to prepare an affirmative ballot argument signed by all or a majority of directors, failure to justify the need for bonds and deceptive advertising on water conservation.

As early as June, the grand jury said, the district's attorney recommended a "fact sheet" be prepared. It was not done until mid-October, less than a month before the election.

When it was prepared, no publicity was given it and it was made available only at the district office in Corte Madera "to those sufficiently informed to ask for it."

"Five days before the election there were no copies available and (district) records indicate only 42 people previously acquired copies from your office," the grand jury said.

"The guarded distribution of this 'fact sheet' occurred notwithstanding the fact that, by then, the press was publicizing critical comments against the water proposal."

The grand jury said this, and failure to make the "fact sheet" available at locations such as libraries "appears to have been a dereliction of your obligation" under state law.

It said the ballot argument was "fortuitously" signed by one board member (board president Jordan L. Martinelli Jr.)

Campbell Officer Is Deputy Chief

A 34-year-old Campbell, Santa Clara County, policeman has been appointed deputy police chief of the City of San Rafael.

Capt. Lawrence Roger Kelly, who joined the Campbell force as a patrolman in 1960, was selected Saturday by the San Rafael City Council for the post from a field of five finalists.

The choice was made unanimously, said City Mgr. William J. Bielser.

Kelly, once a member of the Presidential Guard in Wash., D.C., today embraced San Rafael as a "new challenge" and an "opportunity to progress in my career as a police officer."

He said he will make a bid to become the city's chief of police next June when Chief Joseph J. Brusatori retires.

Kelly described himself as a progressive, saying the police service as well as any other organization must be receptive to change, and said his approach is based on service for the people.

"I attempt to handle every request for service as though it was being requested by a friend or relative," he said.

He said he is a "consultative" administrator who leans toward departmental participatory democracy.

Kelly was born in Boston, the son of a railroad ticket agent. He served as a member of the Presidential Guard during a two-year stint with the Marine Corps.

He moved to California in 1959, joined the Campbell force because "I wanted to be a policeman ever since I was 5." He graduated from California State University at San Jose with a degree in police science.

He is currently working on his master's degree at the college and teaches a course in police science there.

He was appointed captain of Campbell's 42-man force in 1968.

He and his wife Sandra plan to move to San Rafael with their 14-year-old daughter next month.

Both Brusatori and Bielser hailed Kelly as an excellent selection and an asset to the department.

LAWRENCE R. KELLY
New deputy chief

Kelly will assume deputy chief duties — which are in addition to the post now held by deputy Police Chief Thomas L. Stephenson — on Jan. 2. Under the dual deputy police chief system, Stephenson will be in charge of the uniformed manpower of the department for patrol, traffic and service work, and Kelly, with a salary range of $18,228 to $21,558, will be assigned administrative duties.

Other finalists selected from 11 applicants invited to interviews were: Tiburon Police Chief Maurice D. Lafferty; Lt. James W. Carlton and Sgt. Henry W. Ingwersen, of the San Rafael department, and Livermore Police Capt. Jack A. Essex.

Mansfield Asks Richardson Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says key figures in the growing dispute over the resignation of former Attorney General Elliot L. Richrdson should be called to testify on Capitol Hill "pronto."

Mansfield said White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig should be called before the Senate Judiciary Committee to testify without executive privilege. He added that Richardson and former Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox "should also be called before the Judiciary Committee pronto."

Mansfield was interviewed Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

The dispute is over just what Richardson's position was in the days leading up to last Oct. 20, when Cox was fired by the administration and Richardson resigned.

President Nixon and Haig reportedly raised the issue in a series of Watergate briefings for members of Congress last week. According to accounts of some of the legislators Nixon and Haig said that Richardson first agreed to the firing of Cox, then changed his mind. According to other accounts Richardson initially agreed to restrict Cox from seeking further presidential documents and then changed his mind.

Time magazine reproduced what was said to be one of these White House exchanges, beginning when Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., asked about the Cox firing. Nixon, according to Time, asked Haig to respond, and Haig told the group that Richardson had originated the idea to halt all further efforts by Cox to seek documents through the courts. Time then quoted this conversation:

"But General (Haig)," objected Sen. Charles McC Mathias Jr. "That contradicts Elliot's sworn testimony."

Nixon: But he wasn't telling the truth.

Mathias: But Mr. President, he was under oath.

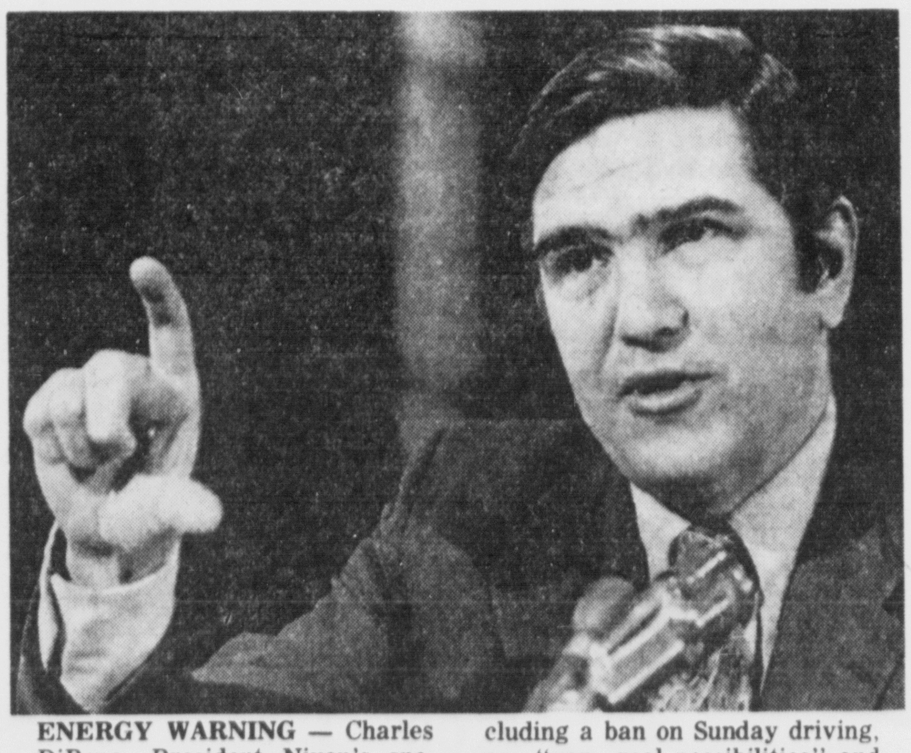
Nixon: You don't think you're going to get him for perjury, do you?

Richardson has testified that he supported a proposed compromise plan to have Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., verify the authenticity of tapes to be released, but that he felt the proposal should not further restrict Cox.

Richardson also has said he resigned rather than comply with an order to fire Cox because "I did not agree with the decisions which brought about the necessity for the issuance of that order."

The Washington Post reported yesterday that seven documents turned over to the Judiciary Committee by Richardson appeared to support his version rather than the one attributed to Nixon and Haig.

For example, it said, a three-page version of the proposed compromise, dated Oct. 17, and drafted by Richardson, made no mention of restricting Cox from further access to documents. A two-page Cox memo the next day objected to the compromise on grounds it did not establish his right to further evidence. the Post said.



ENERGY WARNING — Charles DiBona, President Nixon's special assistant for fuel, warned Congress this morning that mandatory fuel-saving measures, including a ban on Sunday driving, are "very real possibilities" and could be implemented soon. ## $31,000 Damage To Hub Home

Fire did an estimated $31,000 damage to the David Richards residence at 35 Allen Avenue last night, San Anselmo firemen reported.

No one was in the home when the fire broke out, apparently in a room behind the kichen. The cause is still under investigation.

Firemen said the first call on the flames came in at 8:22 p.m., but the caller gave the address as 137 Allen Avenue.

West German Ban On Sunday Driving

BONN (UPI) — Economics Minister Hans Friderichs today announced a ban on all private driving for the next four Sundays, and cut the speed limit on all roads to offset the shortage of Arab oil supplied to West Germany's booming industry.

He also introduced a 100 kilometers per hour (62 mph) speed limit on highways.

Jack Frost Follows Up Lot Of Rain

Early risers in some parts of Marin today found Jack Frost had been at work for the first time this fall, but the white stuff on roofs and walks quickly melted under a bright sun.

The crisp, clear weather — following days and days of rain — will continue at least through tomorrow, the weatherman said. Warmer days but cold nights were forecast.

A new storm front may hit the state tomorrow night, according to the weather service.

The weekend storm dumped heavy rain Saturday, bringing the seasonal total in San Rafael to 20.51 inches. Last year at the same date 19.13 inches had fallen, but the normal seasonal average is only 4.56 inches by Nov. 19.

Driving Ban

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The Danish government today banned private driving on Sundays, ordered sales of heating oil cut by a fourth and curbed the use of electricity to a point that spells the darkest Christmas since World War II.

Novato Win Good For Title Share

Novato High School Saturday held Terra Linda without a single first down to post its fifth consecutive shutout, 13-0, and win the Marin County Athletic League football co-championship and a place in Friday's Top of the Bay Bowl against undefeated Petaluma.

In another season-ending league game Saturday, Drake defeated San Marin, 10-0. MCAL co-champion Redwood rolled to a 32-0 non-league conquest of Marin Catholic.

College of Marin lost its finale to De Anza of Cupertino, 24-7.

Sunday Driving Ban And Other Fuel-Saving Curbs Said Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nationwide ban on Sunday driving and other emergency energy-saving measures are "very real possibilities" because of the nation's energy crisis, one of President Nixon's top energy advisers warned Congress today.

Charles DiBona, the President's special assistant for fuel, told a joint House-Senate hearing that even total compliance with current conservation measures such as turning down thermostats and a 50-mile per hour speed limit will not be sufficient.

He said that an optimistic assessment of these conservation measures, plus hope for increases in domestic supplies, will provide only 2.3 million barrels of oil a day while the shortage is about 3 million barrels a day.

"This means that we're going to have to have stronger, strict mandatory measures?" asked Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

"Yes sir, and soon," DiBona replied. DiBona said that among the "very real possibilities" the administration was considering was a ban on Sunday driving. He said that 25 per cent of all gasoline used in private cars is consumed on

Cease-Fire Marred

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant extremists ordered a Christmas cease-fire in their bombing campaign against Roman Catholics today but an apparently defective time bomb destroyed a Catholic bar 15 minutes after the midnight truce deadline.

An army spokesman said he suspected the bomb was set by the militant, outlawed Ulster Volunteer Force UVV, but a fault in the timing mechanism delayed its blast until after the cease-fire opened. There were no injuries in the explosion in the seaside resort town of Donaghadee, 20 miles east of Belfast.

Strike Vote Lie

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union president Richard J. Vizzini, who called a strike of New York City's 10,000 firemen Nov. 6 after reporting members voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of the walkout, said yesterday he lied about the results of the strike vote.

The membership had actually voted against the walkout, 4,119 to 3,827, according to a union spokesman.

But during contract bargaining sessions, Vizzini said union members expressed support in balloting Nov. 2 for a strike, and when negotiations reached an impasse, Vizzini called the first firemen's walkout in the city's history. It lasted five and one-half hours.

Fear War Again

HONG KONG (UPI) — Two American anti-war activists said yesterday after visiting Communist-controlled areas of Vietnam full-scale war would likely break out if a coalition government is not formed in Saigon.

Cora Weiss, of New York City, and Don Luce of East Calais, Vt., said they believed the Viet Cong "are choosing the political route right now," but would "react" sometime in the future to alleged government military thrusts into Communist territory and full-scale warfare would resume.

The two spent nearly four weeks in North Vietnam and Viet Cong-controlled sections of the South.

Moon Anniversary

HOUSTON (UPI) — Today marks the beginning of the fifth year of operation for the first experimental relay station on the moon, left by the Apollo 12 astronauts Nov. 19, 1969.

Five such experimental stations scattered across the lunar landscape have been relaying a steady stream of scientific information since they were put out by different moon exploration crews.

Despite years of exposure to temperature extremes, the stations have operated faultlessly.

Using nuclear power to run them, the stations house almost two dozen scientific instruments that keep tabs on changes on the lunar surface and beneath it, and detect the size and speed of tiny meteoroids bombarding the moon.

Palace Bombed

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A Cambodian Air Firce T28 fighter-bomber returning from a war mission dropped four bombs on the presidential palace in Phnom Penh today, killing and injuring some palace residents but leaving President Lon Nol unharmed.

First reports said at least three persons were killed and 10 others wounded on the attack on the Chamcar Mon palace grounds.

Official sources said the closest of the 250-pound bombs fell within 100 yards of Lon Nol, who was in his villa on the palace grounds at the time of the raid.

Eye witnesses said the single-engine plane made two passes over the palace, apparently catching defenders off guard.

Quaker Missing

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam said today an American Quaker volunteer was aboard an Air Vietnam DC3 airliner with 23 persons aboard missing since last Saturday on a flight from Saigon to northern Quang Ngai city.

Vietnam Press identified the American as Richard W. Thompson of the American Friends Service Committee. The Philadelphia-based Quaker organization operates a rehabilitation center in Quang Ngai, 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon had no information on Thompson and the American Friends Service Committee could not be reached for comment.

Patrol In Athens

ATHENS (UPI) — Troops in tanks patrolled the streets to keep the peace today and Greek police rounded up suspects from three days of riots by workers and students demanding the overthrow of President George Papadopoulos.

Witnesses said "many busloads and army truckloads" of arrested suspects were taken to police security headquarters. A government spokesman said they would have their identities checked.

Oil Ban Relaxed

VIENNA (UPI) — Arab oil-producing nations partially relaxed their oil cutbacks for Europe today, but Saudi Arabia Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Z. Yamani told Japan it must sever relations with Israel to qualify for supplies of Arab oil.

The Organization of Arab Oil Exporting Countries OAPEC has decided that those countries which are affected by reductions will be exempted on the condition that they assist the Arabs in a very significant way and force the Israelis to withdraw from occupied Arab territories," Amani said.

"Japan cannot help us militarily, so the second thing to do is cut relations with Israel, "Yamani said.

GEORGIA VISIT — President and Mrs. Richard Nixon shook hands with greeters as they arrived at Warner Robins Air Force Base in Georgia yesterday in the second of three public appearances planned in the South over a four-day period. The President went to nearby Macon, Ga., to honor former Georgia Congressman Carl Vinson's 90th birthday.

Nixon Pauses To Assess Position

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon paused today in his Watergate recovery drive, apparently to rest and assess the momentum after a whirlwind week of appeals for acceptance by Congress, the public and the press of evidence he says will clear him of suspicion.

The President took the time out at his home here after drawing a highly sympathetic crowd estimated at about 20,000 during a campaign-style visit yesterday to Macon, Ga., and getting what one aide described as a "tremendous reaction" to the defense Nixon offered Saturday night in a nationally televised news conference.

Indications were that Nixon would go on with his intensely personal bid to rebound from Watergate, with the next move coming tomorrow when he scheduled a trip to Memphis Tenn., for a talk with Republican governors meeting there.

Nixon focused on national defense and did not mention Watergate during a 20-minute speech in Macon yesterday where he took part in ceremonies marking the 90th birthday of former Rep. Carl M. Vinson, D-Ga., longtime chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and the 100th unniversary of Mercer University's law school.

In Saturday's news conference, Nixon was questioned almost exclusively about Watergate and vigorously proclaimed time and time again that he was innocent of any wrongdoing in conection with the bugging scandal or any related activities.

At one point, he was moved to declare: "I made my mistakes, but in all my years of public life, I never profited from public service...and in all of my years of public life, I have never obstructed justice... I welcome this kind of examination because people have got to know whether or not their President is a crook. Well, I'm not a crook. I have earned everything I have got."

The President promised during the session with the Associated Press Managing Editors Association in Orlando, Fla., that he soon would make public assorted documents, including a rundown on his personal financial records.

At Macon, in contrast to the few hundred protesters—most of them young—who greeted him at the small Baptist college with chants of "Nixon must go" and signs calling for his impeachment, the President found thousands of cheering supporters to welcome him at nearby Robins Warner Robins Air Force Base and along his motorcade route.

During his speech in Macon, Nixon announced that a new nuclear powered aircraft carrier would be named for Vinson in tribute to the former congressman's help in formulating national defense policy over a record 50 years in the House.

Young Kennedy Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Within the space of an hour, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy stood in the hospital room where his 12-year-old son was recovering from the amputation of a cancerous leg and at the altar where his niece was married.

Edward Moore Kennedy Jr. was reported in satisfactory condition early today. A spokesman at Georgetown University Hospital said he was able to get out of bed briefly and began to read the messages offering support and prayer that had poured in.

Young Teddy, an athletic, blond seventh-grader at the private St. Alban's School for Boys in Washington, first complained of a pain in his lower right leg about 10 days ago. It was diagnosed as a cartilage tissue tumor, less serious than primary bone cancer. An official of the National Cancer Institute said the 10-year survival rate for Teddy's form of bone cancer is 69 per cent.

The senator looked pained but smiled reassuringly as he led Kathleen up the steps of Holy Trinity Church to marry David Lee Townsend, 25, a bearded Harvard graduate student.

Problems Aired Over Cease-Fire

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli and Egyptian senior officers met today for the fifth time on the Cairo-Suez highway truce line to discuss problems arising from the Middle East cease-fire, including a controversial Israeli proposal that troops of both sides pull back from the Suez Canal.

Prime Minister Golda Meir said Friday the outstanding issue to be resolved by the two sides was the disengagement of their troops on the Suez front, a major issue blocking a fullscale peace conference in Geneva.

The Israeli National Radio said Israeli officers kept newsmen a half mile away from the meeting site 60 miles from Cairo and would say only that "technical problems" were being discussed.

Israel has proposed that Egyptian and Israeli troops be pulled back to their respective sides of the Suez Canal with a buffer strip between them occupied by UN peace-keeping forces. Egypt has opposed this on grounds the Sinai Desert on the east side of the canal is Egyptian territory.

The meeting between Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gemassy and Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv came as Israel's military leaders were embroiled in a controversy over whether Israel was unprepared when the Arabs attacked Oct. 6 and if so who is to blame.

The make-or-break negotiations at the Kilometer 101 desert outpost along the CairoSuez highway came with both countries arguing over Israel's move to build an earthen bridge over the 102-mile-long waterway.

Egypt said the bridge, supported by rocks and gravel shoved into the waterway, would dam the canal. Israeli engineers told correspondents at the scene water could pass under the bridge. Israeli censors prohibited newsmen from cabling detailed descriptions of the span.

Prisoner exchanges continued without a hitch. Cairo released 35 Israelis yesterday and another 33 today, bringing the number of freed Israeli soldiers to 142 of the 247 captured by Egypt. Israel freed 1,506 Egyptians yesterday and now has exchanged 4,544 of the 8,400 it held.

Telephone Joke Business Good

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — John Rosenthal's Dial a Smile "business" is doing great. Rosenthal is the 21-year-old Pontiac resident who dreamed up the idea of a recorded joke service on April Fool's Day, 1972.

Since then, dial a smile has logged 1,933,309 calls, an average of 15 a minute.

The format begins with a recording of hysterical laughter, Rosenthal's deep voice, "Hellooo there, welcome to dial a smile," and then the joke.

Rosenthal said he first got his short question-and-answer jokes (sample-q: what does a buck tooth cow say? a: mooof.) from children's joke books at the library. Now, however, he picks them from between 10 and 50 letters he gets daily from callers.

Ability, Occupation Need Matching For Competition

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth of 20 essays by leading men in the world's academic community. The writer of this essay is professor of psychology at Harvard University. Herein he discusses humanistic concepts and their role in the life of man.)

Social yardsticks

Each of us carts around a mental yardstick for social standing, handy for quick reference. Against it, we can easily mark off the relative standing of bank auditors and tollgate keepers.

We can detect a margin of difference between chemical engineers and mechanical engineers — and perhaps split the gap by thinking of civil engineers. If pressed, we can even attach numbers to our estimates.

See if you think insurance salesmen enjoy between one and a half and two times the social standing of filling station attendants. Whether you agree or disagree, you are using your yardstick.

When social scientists ask ordinary people to rate the "esteem," or "social standing" or "prestige" of various occupations, the answers usually come quickly and confidently — a clear sign of a genuine subjective scale.

At least since the first world war, in countries on several continents, all sorts of people — young or old, rich or poor, well educated or untutored — agree on the status of jobs, given only that the cultures sampled are industrialized enough for a modern division of labor.

Because it is ubiquitous, we take our social yardstick for granted, even though it represents an enormous feat of memorizing. Imagine trying to master a list of several hundred items along an elusive dimension like prestige or status.

Would any physics teacher dare require his students to memorize the hardness values of several hundred common substances?

The fact that society requires us to internalize the social dimension — and the fact that we comply — hints at its vital importance. Getting at the meaning and significance of the social consensus is the main purpose of this essay, for therein resides a bit of understanding of the good life, and its elusiveness.

No one will be surprised to hear that the private, subjective scale of standing correlates highly with the public one — the so-called socioeconomic level of occupations.

Sociologists usually define a job's SES (socioeconomic standing) by a formula that combines its average income with its educational requirements. Occasionally, other factors are thrown in, without much changing the end result.

However defined, physicians place high, day laborers low, and most common occupations at various points in between, approximately as they do on most people's mental yardsticks.

Why the correspondence? We may guess that the subjective scale of standing just echoes SES. While the theory has merit, the reverse is no less true — that SES externalizes our subjective valuations. But let us hold those alternative theories aside briefly, while we consider a third scale.

There remains one more relevant way to rate jobs — by the average intelligence of their holders, as measured by intelligence tests. The prestigious occupations — the ones with higher SES — tend to be filled by people with better test scores.

The correlations are imperfect, thanks to a few conspicuous exceptions like sweepstakes winners and starving geniuses, not to mention a good many less conspicuous ones, but the bonds connecting objective status, personal prestige and mental capacity are firm and clear.

This does not mean that every corporation executive radiates intellect or that every shipping clerk is dull, or the common occupations span broad ranges of test scores, particularly so at the lower status levels. Nevertheless, from one end of the yardstick to the other, the average intelligence values differ dramatically. Schooling has something to do with it, for IQ predicts success or failure in school better than any other single childhood attribute, and school predicts, to some extent, success or failure thereafter. However, schooling may often be more important as a sign of brightness than because of what it teaches beyond the fundamentals of literacy.

Family connections, physical health, drive toward various sorts of success, personality, perhaps even appearance — these may contribute too, but in combination with individual mental agility. Whether people get their brightness from their genes, from their surroundings, or from some mixture of both, most people's relative intellectual standing is pretty well settled by the age of eight or so. The occasional dramatic exceptions may be instructive, but they do not alter the general fact. Somehow or other, mental capacity, material success, and esteem get linked in all modern societies.

Psychology's most nearly universal principle binds the three occupational scales together. Throughout the animal world, from solitary worms to human society, reward and punishment guide the course of action. Animals differ enormously in what rewards or punishes them and in how complex and long a path they can pursue toward their goals, yet the same basic principles operate.

Indeed, it is only from the pattern of a creature's behavior that we can tell what it fancies or shuns. The potato bug works for potatoes, the honeybee for nectar, and man for his pleasures, which include prominently the esteem of his fellows and material gain. But man must earn his social rewards by achievement, for which mental capacity helps greatly. It is out of that simple canon that the continuum of social status grows. Each person, with his mental yardstick for prestige, stands ready and equipped to dole out the reward of esteem to his deserving fellows.

To the extent that he also controls some material reward — especially money — that, too, will follow in measured amounts. The yardstick thus guides human endeavor the way the pursuit of food guides a mouse or rat through a psychologist's maze.

The analogy is not perfect, for the animal running through the maze is utterly powerless, while mankind can change its consensus of social value, even if most of us can do so only infinitesimally.

For most of us, work follows the prevailing consensus, which is within us as the yardstick and around us as SES. Even granting society's debt to nonconformists who break new ground with little reward to ease their way — c art, science or industry — the lure of eventual success doubtless/lightens the burden. And in the business of innovation, the odds favor the well-endowed no less than in other endeavors.

Society can capitalize on the competitive advantage enjoyed by bright people. If people win the best jobs because of their potential competence — rather than because of their family pull or inherited wealth or race or religion — then society is wisely husbanding its human resources, assuming that the best jobs are also the consequential ones that really make important contributions.

Obviously, America falls short of this rational ideal, but that is beside the essential point. Rather, the point is that, given human differences in potential, even an ideal society would need a way to match ability to occupation. The yardstick — with its disparities in society's rewards — may be as humane (and human) a way as any.

Perhaps America's disparities in wealth and status are larger than they need to be for any useful purpose, but they cannot be eliminated without inviting prompt social and economic disaster, as history repetitiously teaches wherever rigid egalitarianism has taken hold. Without disparities, society stops husbanding its talent and ceases to direct actions according to any consensus.

Instead of the sought after "liberty, equality, and fraternity," there is stark anarchy, usually terminated rapidly by terror and tyranny. True equality in society's rewards does not appear to be one of mankind's workable alternatives.

Because virtually all people harbor some yearning for at least some of society's rewards, they compete. And as soon as they compete, there will be winners and losers. But, in competing, they help place gifted people in the positions that bring the richest benefits, which, in turn, are most often those which are held in highest regard.

Thus we contribute even when we fail, for if suddenly people stopped caring about society's rewards, the consensus would no longer have its power to direct action. The collective needs of society — which is to say, our needs — are therefore translated into a system in which most of us are bound to fail to get all we want out of our jobs, for most people fall short in the rare talents drawn upon by society for its best rewards.

Of course, American society has other obstacles to success, with nothing to justify or excuse them. We have yet to end bigotry, or unequal education, or nepotism, or graft.

The penalties of a true meritocracy may look good to people who are being held back by unfair and unnecessary barriers like those. And there is always sheer luck, both good and bad, which we will never control. But as long as society needs our labor, most of us will fail to get as high on the yardstick as we crave — although we may learn to like our jobs and accept our shortcomings calmly and with understanding.

The good life cannot be in store for all of us or our children, for the frustrations of unfulfilled goals play an essential role in society's grand scheme.

Novato Council To Consider Base Land

The Novato City Council will consider a plan for use of surplus land at Hamilton Air Force Base at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

The proposal, recommended last Thursday night by the Hamilton Air Force Base Land Use Study Committee, calls for use of the entire 477 acres declared surplus at the base.

Chairman Joseph A. Forest said the plan is only a general one and consultants will be hired to draw up a detailed land use plan.

Under the plan, the base land would be used for housing, education, recreation and conservation, social service, and "service and support facilities," such as storage areas and warehouses.

These uses by public agencies should have top priority, the committee recommended.

Among other proposals being considered are a ban on fuels for private boats and aircraft; closing public parks to automobiles; closing service stations on weekends; and blue laws to close all businesses on Sunday, he said.

Meanwhile, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that the administration will "have to take some sharp and decisive action" to cope with the energy shortage.

Shultz, who said his "instinct is against" gasoline rationing, said the United States was lucky the crisis had come now because imported fuel supplies are only a small portion of American energy needs.

"I hope rationing will not be necessary," Shultz said. "My instinct is against it . . . Rationing sounds like such an easy answer but it raises such serious problems that I question whether it is a real answer. Nevertheless, the problem is such that we will have to take some sharp and decisive action."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, asked if gasoline rationing was not a better alternative.

"We have people aggressively pursuing a rationing program, but it's a tough, tough, tough job to draw up a plan that is equitable," DiBona said. "If we can take other steps we should."

DiBona said one proposal the government was considering would make it mandatory for people to lower their thermostats to 68 degrees, accomplished by delivering only sufficient fuel oil to heat their homes at that level.

DiBona said that the administration estimates the energy shortage at about 18 per cent — based on the assumption the Arab petroleum boycott continues and it will be a normal winter.

Family Of The Future Due Study

The family of the future—in which several families unite together for mutual caring and support—will be discussed by David M. Newcomer at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 3, in the Alemany Library at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Newcomer is a co-director of the National Institute for Nonkinship Extended Family Development and Research. He and his wife, Meg, and a group of interested families formed the first Nonkinship Extended Family in Marin County on Feb. 1, 1970.

He is a member of the National Council for Family Relations and has been a consultant to community mental health projects dealing with suburban families.

Sausalito Man's Auto Is Looted

A thief blew a sour note in Sausalito musician Fred Argir's life, Argir told police over the weekend.

Saturday evening, Argir's parked auto was looted of more than $1,000 in instruments and electronic equipment — and three hardbound notebooks containing about 500 pages of musical research notes.

Argir, 30, is a guitarist with the Wintergreen Hotel band. He said he hopes to write a book using those stolen notes, if only the thief will return them — no questions asked — to Post Office Box 402, Sausalito.

Pooches Aid In BART Arrests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pooch patrol sniffing around the ultra-modern Bay Area Rapid Transit trains helped nab four offenders during their first month on the beat on the San Francisco line.

Bismarck and Dirk fraternize with the passengers and seem as friendly as the neighborhood mutt, but at the command of their handlers they are trained to instantly attack or chase down an offender, BART police adviser Ralph Weule said this weekend.

JURY

and was subsequently ratified by the board without fanfare or publicity.

It said many documents, such as consultants' reports, were incomplete at the time of the election and thus the basic justification for the bond measure was not fully established.

"Individually, as well as collectively, your board evinced a lack of conviction and sincere support for your Measure E," it continued. "Repeatedly during public meetings prior to the election, provocative questions were raised . . . for which no definitive responses were made."

It said when the district's staff attempted to respond, the staff was cut off at mid-sentence by the board.

The grand jury also said advertising of the district's water conservation program "lost all credibility when you allowed demonstrably false mathematics to proclaim that a single leaky faucet would lose 400 gallons of water per day, or worse, that 'if one-half of all leaky faucets in Marin were repaired, we would save eight million gallons of water per day."

At one point in the letter, the grand jury said the board's actions "at worst . . . represent the promotion of your personal views over the obligations of public stewardship. At best, it can only be characterized as default in the basic duty of elective responsibility."

US Astronauts Are In Moscow

They were Thomas P. Stafford, Donald K. Slayton, Vance Brand, Alan L. Bean, Jack R. Lousma and Ronald E. Evans.

OBITUARIES

Architect Wayne S. Hertzka Dies

Longtime San Francisco architect Wayne S. Hertzka died unexpectedly yesterday at his home in Kent Woodlands. He was 66.

Hertzka was chairman of the board of Hertzka and Knowles, designers of some of San Francisco's best-known landmarks, including the Crown Zellerbach building, Standard Oil Co. building, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office building, the Hong Kong Bank building and the Pacific Insurance Co. building.

The firm also designed three stations for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Hertzka was born in Spokane, Wash., and grew up there. He attended the University of Idaho but earned his bachelor's and master's degrees at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He served in World War II as a lieutenant colonel in the Army Corps of Engineers in North Africa, Italy and France, and was awarded the Legion of Merit. He married his wife, Marguerite, in Oran, Algiers in 1944.

In addition to his architectural work, Hertzka participated in numerous civic and philanthropic activities. He was a member of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and twice headed the Bay Area Crusade's professional division fund-raising campaigns.

He was a member of Temple Emanu-El in San Francisco and served on the temple's building committee and also belonged to B'nai B'rith.

In 1972, Hertzka was appointed the only architect on the California Council of Product Design and Marketing by the governor.

Golf was his hobby and he belonged to the Presidio Golf Club.

In addition to his wife, of the family home at 27 Rock Road, Hertzka is survived by a son, Edgar W. Hertzka of Sausalito; a brother Gene Hertzka of San Carlos; a sister, Alice Clemens of San Francisco, and his mother, Mrs. A.W. Hertzka, also of San Francisco.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 1

WAYNE S. HERTZKA

GRACE CASWELL

Funeral for Grace E. Caswell, longtime Marin County resident, will be at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Caswell lived in Marin for more than 50 years before moving to Alameda two years ago. She died Saturday in an Alameda hospital after a brief illness. She was 90.

She and her late husband, Edison W. Caswell, lived for 30 years at 50 Nakomis Avenue in San Anselmo. A retired carpenter, he died in 1971.

A native of Terre Haute, Ind., she moved to Sacramento as a teen-ager. She was married there and lived with her husband in Sacramento and Oakland before moving to Marin.

Mrs. Caswell was a member of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.

Surviving are a son, Edward W. Caswell of Alameda, two grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild.

ANNABELLE THORNE

Graveside services for Dr. Annabelle Flint Thorne, mother of Flint Thorne of San Rafael, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the San Francisco National Cemetery at the Presidio.

Dr. Thorne died Friday at a Walnut Creek hospital. She had lived at Rossmoor the past seven years.

She was born in Lenox, Mass., but had lived in California 34 years. She was an osteopath.

She was a member of the American Osteopathic Association and the California Osteopathic Association.

In addition to her son, she is survived by three grandchildren.

MRS. McKENNA

Private service has been held for Augusta C. McKenna, 94, of San Rafael. She died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. McKenna, a resident of Aldersly Danish retirement home, was the widow of Thomas D. McKenna, a printer. She had been a resident of Marin for three-and-a-half years and formerly lived in San Francisco.

She was a native of Sweden and had been a resident of the United States for 76 years.

Surviving are a son, George E. McKenna of Kentfield, and two grandchildren.

ALBERT J. BIGON

Funeral for Albert J. Bigon, 64, a San Rafael insurance broker, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Bigon, of 381 Mountainview Avenue, died Saturday at a local convalescent hospital after a six-month illness.

He had been a resident of Marin for about five years and had lived most of his adult life in San Francisco. He was a member of San Rafael Lodge 1108 Elks. He was a native of California.

Surviving are his wife, Edith; a son, Ronald Bigon of Santa Rosa; a brother, George Bigon of San Francisco; a sister, Mary Nelson of San Francisco; and one grandchild.

Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary. The family prefers that memorial contributions be to a favorite charity.

HARRIET LAMB

Private funeral for Harriet J. Lamb, a Marin resident for 20 years, was held Saturday. Inurnment followed at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

She died Saturday at a San Rafael convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 80.

Mrs. Lamb was born in San Francisco and lived in California all her life. She moved to Marin 20 years ago and lived at 89 Elizabeth Way, San Rafael, before entering the hospital.

She was a medical secretary for 25 years but was retired at the time of her death.

Mrs. Lamb was preceded in death by her husband, Roland T. Lamb.

ALICE ARGENTO

Funeral for Alice Argento, former Marin resident who died unexpectedly in a Redding hospital Friday, was held today in San Rafael.

Mrs. Argento was born in San Francisco but lived in Marin for about 20 years.

She and her husband, Richard, former Marin County sheriff's inspector, had operated a restaurant at Burney Falls in Shasta County for the past two years.

Before that time they lived in Lake County for a time.

Mrs. Argento was a member of the Lions' Auxiliary and the Soroptimist Club in Burney.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Richard Raymond Argento of Fairfax; a daughter, Diane Rose Ford of Rohnert Park, and three grandchildren.

Entombment was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

SEBASTIANO T. FAORO

Sebastiano T. (Sam) Faoro, a 39-year resident of San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness. He was 79.

Born in Italy, Faoro was a member of the Italian Army Alpine Corps in World War I, winning medals for valor and finally being wounded and captured by the Germans.

Faoro came to the United States in 1923, and moved to San Anselmo in 1944 with his wife, Lena. He lived at 9 Tamal Avenue.

He was a cement mason, and worked for Marin County contractors until he retired in 1959. He was a member of the Plasterers and Cement Workers Union Local No. 355 and of the Italian-Catholic Federation.

Faoro is survived by his wife; two daughters, Eleanor Snellgrove of Carson City, Nev., and Irene Lorente of San Anselmo; a son, Almo Cordone of Davis and nine grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in St. Anselm's Church, followed by burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

URBAN L. MORF

Urban L. Morf, 15-year resident of Marin and president of a medical billing firm, died yesterday in a local hospital following a brief illness.

Morf, 65, was a native of San Francisco who spent most of his life in that city. He attended St. Ignatius College, now the University of San Francisco.

At his death he resided at 380 Coleman Drive in San Rafael.

Morf was president of the Morf Firm, a medical billing service throughout California, primarily serving anesthesiologists.

He was president of Stanford Parlor No. 76 of the Native Sons of the Golden West and was a member of St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

Survivors include his wife, Frieda Morf of San Rafael; three sons, George Morf of Santa Venetia, Charles Morf of Menlo Park and Martin Morf of San Rafael; three daughters, Marilyn McNeil of Corte Madera, Ursula Nelson of Menlo Park and Fredricka Varetakis of San Rafael; a sister, Dolores Matteson of Kentfield, and eleven grandchildren. He was also the brother of the late John Morf of Hillsborough.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated Wednesday at 11 a.m. at St. Raphael's followed by interment at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Keaton's Mortuary.

DAVID CIOCCA

Memorial Mass of the Resurrection for David S. Ciocca, son of the late police judge Guy A. Ciocca, will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. in St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

He died Saturday after being overcome by smoke while trying to rescue dogs from his burning home in Vancouver, B.C. He was 36.

Ciocca was born in Ross. He attended St. Raphael's School, Marin Catholic High School and College of Marin.

After college, he operated a general contracting firm for several years in Sausalito and did landscaping for the shoreline park in Sausalito.

Ciocca moved to Vancouver in 1969 where he met and married Elizabeth Brooks Ciocca, who survives him. He owned and operated a landscaping firm there until his death.

His survivors include three children by a former marriage, now living in Utah, two sons, Jeffrey and David, and a daughter, Kimberley; his mother, Mrs. Guy A. Ciocca of Kentfield; and a brother, Dennis G. Ciocca of Corte Madera.

Burial arrangements will be made after his body is returned from Canada.

The family prefers memorial contributions to Hanna Boys' Center, P.O. Box 100, Sonoma

ESTHER WHITE

Esther Mary White, former Tiburon resident, died Saturday at a Napa hospital after a long illness. She was 58.

Mrs. White was born in South Dakota but had lived in California since 1940. She lived in Tiburon many years before moving to Napa eight months ago.

Mrs. White was a longtime member of the Soaring Society of America, composed of glider enthusiasts, and was former editor of the West Coast Soaring magazine.

She is survived by her husband, Carleton White of Napa, and a brother Edward Patrick Gilmartin of Merrit Island, Fla.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Napa Valley Memorial Gardens Mortuary, 2383 Napa-Vallejo Highway. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society or the Esther White Memorial, Pacific Soaring Council.

HARRY R. MACK

Harry R. Mack, retired Petaluma salesman, died yesterday at a local hospital after collapsing at his home. He was 74.

Mack was born and reared in Davenport, Iowa. He had operated a sewing machine business in Milwaukee, Wis., before moving to Santa Rosa 28 years ago. He worked there in sewing machines sales until his retirement in 1958.

Mack and his wife, Harriett, moved to Petaluma a year ago, and lived at 424 Broadway Street. He was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, Petaluma.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

OLD HOUSE TRAINS FIREMEN

Fairfax firemen practice fire control during demolition of the old house known as the Trimble home on Glen Drive. Crews from the Marin County Fire Department, San Anselmo and Kentfield also participated in the controlled burn and training exercise Saturday. Fairfax oldtimers believe the old wooden house was built about 1880.

Friendship Slap By President?

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon slapped a man lightly on the face Saturday in what appeared to observers to be a gesture of friendship, but which the man may have misinterpreted.

The incident occurred at McCoy Air Force Base near Orlando, Fla., as Nixon was returning from an hour-long news conference at Disney World.

About 60 persons, mostly base personnel, were on hand to see the President off. He walked over to the fence to shake hands with some of them.

According to reporters with the President, he approached a short, balding man and his son, who appeared to be about 10. The man told reporters what had happened.

"Are you the boy's mother or grandmother?" Nixon asked.

"Neither," the man replied.

"Of course not," Nixon said, and lightly slapped the man's face.

Reporters in the press pool accompanying Nixon witnessed the incident but did not hear the conversation and did not get the man's name.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

ANOTHER VOICE IS ADDED TO THE NUTRITION CHORUS

Dr. George Christakis operates a nutrition clinic and is Professor of Community Medicine at New York's Mount Sinai School of Medicine. At the recent Public Health Association convention in San Francisco, he made news by warning that the American way of eating needs to be "changed at every level." He says "the balanced diet should become part of our life". And actually, "the mother's eating pattern can condition the fetus", so good nutrition begins before birth.

Dr. Christakis finds that bottle feeding babies on cow's milk sets a pattern of over-eating, leading to obesity and later, to chronic disease. But breast-fed babies are getting what Nature intended. Along with other public health specialists, Dr. Christakis calls for greatly stepped up nutritional courses in medical schools and high quality, free lunches for school children.

SAN RAFAEL TURKEY SHOOT

Irene Vanden Bos of San Rafael Police Explorer Post 303 takes careful aim (left) at a distant turkey target on the East San Rafael police pistol range, then admires the results of her markmanship (right). San Rafael police awarded $544 in prizes to 94 winners among 150 residents who participated in the annual event over the weekend, according to Juvenile Officer Donald M. Rose. About $100 garnered from entry fees will pay for trophies awarded to winners of the annual spring track meet between Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools, he said.

Driver Arrested In Assault Case

A Petaluma man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after an auto chase through Petaluma.

Robert John Frey, 21, of 35 Averye Way, was booked into city jail and scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Police said he was involved in an argument over a near traffic accident at the Boulevard Bowl at 9:45 p.m. with Jerry D. Simpson, 30, of 428 Coronado Drive, Petaluma. Simpson and his passenger, Larry Strain, 23, of 7454 Beverly Drive, Rohnert Park, said Frey chased them across town until they stopped in the parking lot at the Old Adobe Room restaurant.

Simpson said Frey threatened him with a gun and demanded an apology for the driving incident.

Booze Is Taken At Teen Dance

A teen-age dance sponsored by the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission ended on a sober note Saturday after chaperones confiscated a large quantity of alcoholic beverages brought by participants.

Police said about 95 containers of beer, wine and whiskey were taken from a crowd of about 200 attending the event at the Fairfax Pavilion.

Several youths were arrested for being drunk in public, police said.

Governors Asked To Save Energy

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Republican governors checking into their rooms at the Rivermont Holiday Inn yesterday found a note from inn-keeper John Nevels.

It asked the governors, here for the Republican Governors Conference, to conserve energy by keeping room temperatures at no more than 68 degrees and to turn off lights and water when not in use.

Cox Found A Good Place In Search For Seclusion

SOUTH BROOKSVILLE, Maine (UPI) — When Archibald Cox decided to get away from the pressures of Washington after his dismissal as special Watergate prosecutor, he could not have found a better place than this tiny coastal hamlet.

It is a challenge just to locate the two-story yellow New England farmhouse where Cox has been in semiseclusion since he departed Washington. Getting there involves stopping often at country stores and homes for directions, and making a series of left turns long after leaving U.S. Route 1.

Cox, who was dressed in blue jeans, brogans and a pullover sweater during a recent visit, appears completely relaxed.

Talking to visitors in a modest den warmed by a wood-burning stove, he speaks more about the troubles he has had with the deer and raccoons that get in his garden each spring, than about Watergate.

But Cox seems only half heartedly interested in keeping wildlife out of his garden. To date, his only effort to keep the deer out of his peas has been to string up a single-strand electrically charged fence — a small challenge for a leaping deer.

He admits that he doesn't attempt to cope with the raccoons, and simply has given up trying to grow corn.

"It got to where they came by to see if the corn was ripe. You could see where they'd pull open the ears to take a look," Cox said.

When asked what he loves best about the Maine coast, Cox waves his arms toward the spectacular view from inside his house of Eggemoggin Reach off Penobscot Bay.

"Just look out there. I've always said my entire family were peasants at heart," the Harvard professor said.

MARIN CHAIRMAN — George J. Silvestri Jr., Marin deputy county counsel, has been named 1974 Marin March of Dimes chairman by Virgil S. Hollis, campaign chairman for the North Bay March of Dimes chapter which includes Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano Counties.

Lawmaker Opposes Belt Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York congressman has introduced legislation to remove the seatbelt ignition interlock system starting with 1974 model cars.

Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., said today his legislation would order the Department of Transportation to rescind the controversial seatbelt interlock regulation immediately.

King said the regulation requires "all persons and objects of sufficient weight in the front seat of any new car" to be strapped in with both lap and shoulder belts before the car can be started.

If the belts are released after the car is running, he said, "flashing lights and buzzers are activated until the belts are refastened."

King said he considered the DOT seatbelt regulations to be "another example of unwise and unnecessary interference by the federal bureaucracy into the daily lives of our citizens."

He added: "I favor the safest possible automobile the manufacturers can possibly produce. However, the use of individual seatbelts should remain an individual decision."

PSA Says Shutdown Inevitable

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Pacific Southwest Airlines continues to fly in the wake of a strike by Teamsters Union Local 2707 but a union spokesman said yesterday that it is only a matter of time until "the airline will have to shut down operations."

Dave Burness, PSA vice president in charge of operations, said maintenance is being performed on the jet planes "at a normal pace."

He said 80 supervisory employes were performing regular maintenance and that the airline was working closely with the Federal Aviation Agency "to insure that all of our aircraft are in first-class running condition."

Ed Rubano, business representative for the union, said PSA has curtailed its operations "to the point they are only flying at 45 per cent of their regular schedule."

The strike began Thursday night with about 600 maintenance workers walking off the job. Picket lines were being honored by about 800 other PSA employes also represented by the Teamsters.

Wild Pear Eats Exhaust Fumes

MOSCOW (UPI) — City planners might like to consider the Caucasian wild pear as the answer to their pollution problems.

The Tass news agency said yesterday an investigation by a team of biochemists at Tbilisi University showed that the pear thrives on the noxious substances found in exhaust fumes.

Tass said such plants, by absorbing pollution in their leaves, could result in cleaner cities if scientifically planted.

Gallup Says Republicans In A Poor Position Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Pollster George Gallup told Republican governors today that if congressional elections were held now, the Democrats might win enough seats to pass any legislation they wanted over President Nixon's veto.

Gallup, delivering what he called "the bad news" at the winter conference at the 19-member Republican Governors' Association, said the Nov. 6 elections clearly showed "the effects of Watergate on state and local politics."

He said a Gallup poll taken just before the election indicated that Republicans would have suffered their worst defeat since the New Deal days of the 1930s had there been a general congressional election this year.

In New Jersey, where Republicans lost the governorship, Gallup said there was "a pretty discouraging picture" for the GOP.

"In many districts where registered Republicans outnumbered the Democrats 2 to 1 or even 3 to 1, the Democrats swept the boards," he said.

Gallup said the GOP "has serious problems for 1974," and cited a new survey that showed if all House seats had been up for election this year, "Republican candidates would pull the lowest percentage of the entire vote in the entire history of our (Gallup) organization which goes back to 1935."

First Woman Bank President Named

NEW YORK (UPI) — Madeline H. McWhinney, 51, highest ranking woman in the Federal Reserve System, has been named the first woman bank president in the State of New York.

After her retirement as the New York Federal Reserve Bank's first woman vice president at the end of the year, she will become president of The First Women's Bank and Trust Co.

MISS CALIFORNIA CONTEST

Winner Seeks New Beauty Title

By KAREN PETERSON

A San Anselmo girl, with a propensity to enter — and win — beauty contests has a realistic view of their character and importance of the pageant.

Francesca Cresci of 36 Rosemont Avenue will leave Tuesday for the Miss California contest in Los Angeles, prepared for disappointment or triumph. To her, the contests are fun, a good experience, and, she hopes, stepping stones to a career in modeling or acting.

Contestants are like a "bunch of cattle," she said, "showing off their bodies and nothing more. But the main reason we're there is to show off our bodies. Sure I like it or I wouldn't be there."

Since graduation from Presentation High School in San Francisco, the 20-year-old Miss Cresci has been crowned Miss San Francisco of 1972, Miss Cablecar of 1972, Miss KTIM of 1972, Miss Italian Hour of 1972, Miss San Francisco Grape Festival of 1972, and even Miss Beautiful Ape.

The next milestone in her pageant career will begin next week as she travels to Los Angeles to compete with 42 other beauties in the Miss California contest, a prelude to the Miss USA and Miss World competition. The state contest will be aired on television Saturday.

A secretary in the planning department of the City of San Rafael, Miss Cresci said she "always entered contests for fun." But she would also like to act or model and pageants are good publicity.

"It's hard for me to say why I enter contests," she said, "I just enjoy being with the public."

To the critics of beauty pageants, Miss Cresci answers that "all things that people do are for another purpose."

"I believe in Women's Liberation as far as job opportunities and not being treated as a slave," she said, "When I get married, I still want my independence and not feel that the man has to support me. I'm not going to kneel down to him."

She also believes that within three years beauty contests will be a thing of the past.

"They're outdated," she said, "A few years ago contests were a big thing but people are slacking off now. There's too many other things going on to think about beauty contests."

"There's a Miss everything," she added, "My friends are excited . . . but I don't tell many people about the contests. I didn't tell them at work. A lot would turn around and say great but some would turn around and say 'big deal'. I'd be embarrassed."

Her trip to the Miss California contest causes her mixed emotions of excitement and dread.

"I'm going into this blind. I don't know what will happen. I'll find out if it's fixed or not," she said.

The 42 girls in the contest will spend a week together, being judged on poise, manners and beauty each waking hour of the day. The biggest obstacle Miss Cresci sees in living with 42 other contestants all wanting to win the title and the $10,000 scholarship. "Everyone wants to win," she said. "There will probably be quite a few conceited and stuckup girls there."

"I'm looking forward to the experience," she added, "but as far as it goes, it's not a big deal. I'll be glad when it's over. I've spent so much money buying things. We have to look our best."

But if Miss Cresci is lukewarm about the contest, her mother, Sicily-born Mrs. Ignatius Catanzaro is excited enough for both of them. "I'll feel sorry for her if I don't win," said Miss Cresci.

If she wins, Miss Cresci will use the scholarship to study languages. She already speaks Spanish and Italian, and is taking a night class in French, but she would like to speak as many languages as she can fluently. "I'd like to live in Europe and work anywhere and everywhere."

The contest, too, could lead to a career in the theater, and Miss Cresci points to the success of former contest winners, Karen Valentine and Mary Tyler Moore.

Last year Miss Cresci made a guest appearance on the Bob Wilkin's "Creature Features" show as the reigning Miss Cablecar. At the same time she was billed as Miss Beautiful Ape, a fictitious title created for her horror show appearance.

"I wore an ape mask and a bikini," she remembered and, laughing, said, "I thought it was my big break, but it wasn't."

CONTESTANT — Francesca Cresci of San Anselmo takes a balanced view of beauty contests, their good and bad points. For her, they are a means to an end, not an end in themselves. She hopes they will lead to an acting or modeling career.

Skylight Fall Hurts Fireman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fireman was badly bruised, but otherwise unhurt, after falling three stories through a rooftop skylight, authorities said.

William Lytell was reported in stable condition at St. Francis Hospital after his fall last night. Officials said Lytell stepped through the glass skylight, hidden by dense smoke, while trying to control a third-floor apartment building fire.

The apartment's resident, Nordon Byrd, 49, was reported in satisfactory condition at Kaiser Hospital here with second-degree burns over his thighs and legs, about 13 per cent of his body.

Shirley Chisholm Silent On Probe

TORONTO (AP) — Rep. Shirley Chisholm says there will be "astounding revelations" in the next few weeks about federal investigations into her campaign funding.

But she declined to elaborate, saying her lawyer had advised her "not to say anything and let things unfold."

GM, Union Reach Contract Pact

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers negotiators, weary after almost 24 hours of nonstop bargaining, reached agreement today on a new national contract.

The settlement came only 90 minutes before the start of a scheduled series of ministrikes at selected General Motors plants across the country.

The word began going out from union negotiators at about 8:30 a.m. that a tentative agreement had been reached. The official announcement was expected later from union and company bargainers.

The company and union bargaining teams began their final meeting before 9 a.m. yesterday and worked without a stop all night in subcommittees. The tentative agreement, if approved by the union's rank and file membership, will wrap up the 1973 round of labor talks for nearly three-quarters of a million auto workers.

The union had been set to order a sizeable number of its 420,000 union members at GM to start a rotating series of short strikes at 10 a.m., the time the old contract terminated. That contract was extended on a day to day basis while the union negotiated first with Chrysler and then with Ford.

While details of the tentative agreement were withheld by the union leadership today, the GM contract was reportedly close to the economic pattern set at the two other auto companies.

Despite the settlement, it was expected that GM will be plagued by the same local contract disputes which interrupted Ford and Chrysler production even after national contracts were signed. The union and GM had reached agreement on local contracts at only 27 of 146 bargaining units.

Doctor Says Ankles Hurt In Jogging

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Gordon W. Falknor says he thinks some people — and their ankles — would do better riding a bicycle rather than jogging.

Falknor, a member of the faculty of the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago, told a meeting of the Illinois Podiatry Society yesterday he is seeing cases of "jogger's ankle."

He said the condition results from jogging or running on hard surfaces, such as blacktop or concrete, exposing the feet and ankles to severe stress before the tissues can build up tolerance.

Falknor said symptoms are similar to traumatic arthritis and inflammation of the Achilles tendon above its attachment to the heel bone.

He said there is no cure and he recommends patients with jogger's ankle turn to bicycle-riding because "it is an excellent form of exercise. . . and more fun in the long run."

THIS YEAR THERE'LL BE LESS SPACE TO TURN AROUND IN. YOU NEED A VOLVO.

The Volvo 164E squeezes into spaces domestic luxury cars can't because there's about three feet less of it. But inside, there's room for five big adults. Those in the front can go up to 6'6". Those in the rear enjoy as much legroom as in a Lincoln Continental Mark IV.

Just remember our name when you're ready to buy a Volvo 164E. So you'll know who to turn to.

Three Drafting Tax Limit Bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Despite the defeat of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax ceiling initiative, three assemblymen are planning their own tax-limit measures for debate in the legislature next year.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday said his measure would place the concept of Reagan's Prop. 1 into California lawbooks — but not locked forever in the state Constitution.

He asked Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, a major opponent to Reagan's proposal, to draft the new measure "with a built in alarm system" to prevent the state spending from growing faster than personal income.

Bagley said Post should design a bill that lacks the purported pitfalls of Reagan's initiative yet contains the budgetary restraints which Post himself has said are needed.

Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, Republican whip in the Assembly, also hopes to introduce a similar tax-limit measure next year.

"We darn well better recognize that the desire to hold down the amount of money government takes from the people is very real," said the Redwood City lawmaker. "If we don't, some time in the future we (legislators) will get clobbered with something we don't like or had no hand in drafting."

A third program has been unveiled by Assemblyman John L. Burton, state Democratic party chairman.

"The Democratic proposal for tax reform is everything Prop. 1 is not," the San Francisco lawmaker said. "It would close loopholes rather than freeze them into the Constitution and adjust tax rates on the ability to pay."

The plan would cut the sales tax one cent, exempt individuals with $6,000 adjusted gross income and couples with $12,000 from income taxes. Upper level income taxes would be increased, as would bank and corporation levies and preferred income taxes.

Burton wants the party to conduct an initiative campaign to put the proposal on the November, 1974, ballot.

Ben-Gurion In Serious Condition

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Former Prime Minister David BenGurion, 87, one of Israel's founders, was in serious condition today, his personal physician said, suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage that has paralyzed his right side.

"There's no danger to his life," Dr. Boleslav Goldman said of Ben-Gurion, who suffered the stroke yesterday. "His condition has not changed. In medical terminology it is serious."

Goldman said Ben-Gurion's family was at his bedside and he was visited during the morning by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

"I don't know in which direction he's going, but I'm optimistic," Dr. Boleslaw Goldman said.

The physician said Ben-Gurion's ion, who has lived on a desert kibbutz (collective settlement) for the past 10 years, was being fed intravenously but was receiving no medication.

"He's in quite serious condition, but his chances are quite good," the doctor said after a visit to Ben-Gurion's bedside. "He won't die."

Goldman said the former leader, who recently spent 10 days in the hospital with a respiratory ailment, had been ill several times in the past few years.

The physician said the ailments were mainly caused by advancing age and BenGurion's heart was still in "excellent" condition after the stroke.

Los Angeles Fire Guilt Is Admitted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A young drifter with an arson record, paroled only a week earlier from an Arizona reform school, has admitted setting the deadliest structural blaze in the city's history, police said yesterday.

Michael Altenburger, being held on suspicion o der in the Stratford Apartment fire, which killed 24 persons late Thursday night and early Friday.

Police and arson investigators said they would bring charges against Altenburger today or tomorrow.

Retired Roman Catholic Cardinal John Francis Mcintire was to say a special mass today for the dead — most of whom were Mexican-Americans — at a church in the downtown Los Angeles neighborhood of the Stratford.

The case against Altenburger includes "physical evidence" in addition to his confession, investigators said. They would not say what that evidence is.

Altenburger was arrested some distance away, near the UCLA campus, by officers who found him sleeping on a bench at a bus stop, and brought in for routine questioning.

MUSIC REVIEW

A Great Night For Music Fans

By SYLVIA L. RUBY

Grover Sales brought a talented group of young musicians to the College of Marin Fine Arts Theater last night in a program entitled "From Gottschalk to Modern Jazz: 125 Years of American Music." Sales and Peter Mintun narrated with slides between selections in the first-rate program whose only fault lay in being overlong.

The interaction and the interinfluence of jazz and classical musical played a major role in the narration, although less in the music performed. Before merging with the mainstream of music, the jazz and classical streams blend to become the third stream. Sales' weaving of the history of the mutual aspects of third stream music were enlightening and enjoyable.

William Tennant, a fine rag pianist played the first section of the concert. He began with two works by Louis Gottschalk, the late 19th century "matinee" idol, whose New Orleans upbringing with Creole and black musical influences predates the music of Scott Joplin and Louis Chauvin by 30 years. The recognizable tinkling right hand in the upper reaches of the piano and the striking rhythms with some syncopation gives a strong rag feel.

Tennant gave fine renditions of rags by Joplin, Chauvin, James Scott and James Johnson; all written in the early 19th century each with its distinctive characteristics. Johnson's "Caprice Rag" makes use of the Harlem stride — low bass notes with clusters of chords in the middle range.

Igor Stravinsky was the only really classical composer whose music appeared on the program (aside from Gottschalk, and not counting George Gershwin, both of whom defy easy classification). His delightful "Piano Rag Music" of 1919 was a joyful romp in ragtime style but with incessant dissonances of major and minor seconds, and intricate rhythms and inner melodies.

Peter Mintun was charming and sophisticated in both commentary and piano playing. The second section of the program consisted of music from the twenties and thirties.

Highlights of Mintun's set were selections by Bix Beiderbecke and Fats Waller. Beiderbecke's name is known solely for his cornet playing, but a piano piece, "In a Mist", shows a good knowledge of the underlying harmony, and not just the "one-line" melody a cornetist plays.

Mintun pointed out Waller's characteristic traits — steady left-hand chords of tenths with a fluid right-hand melody, then demonstrated this with "Ain't Misbehavin'." He played in the way in which this piece was first heard — as the accompaniment for a chorus number performed by a group called the "Hot Chocolates."

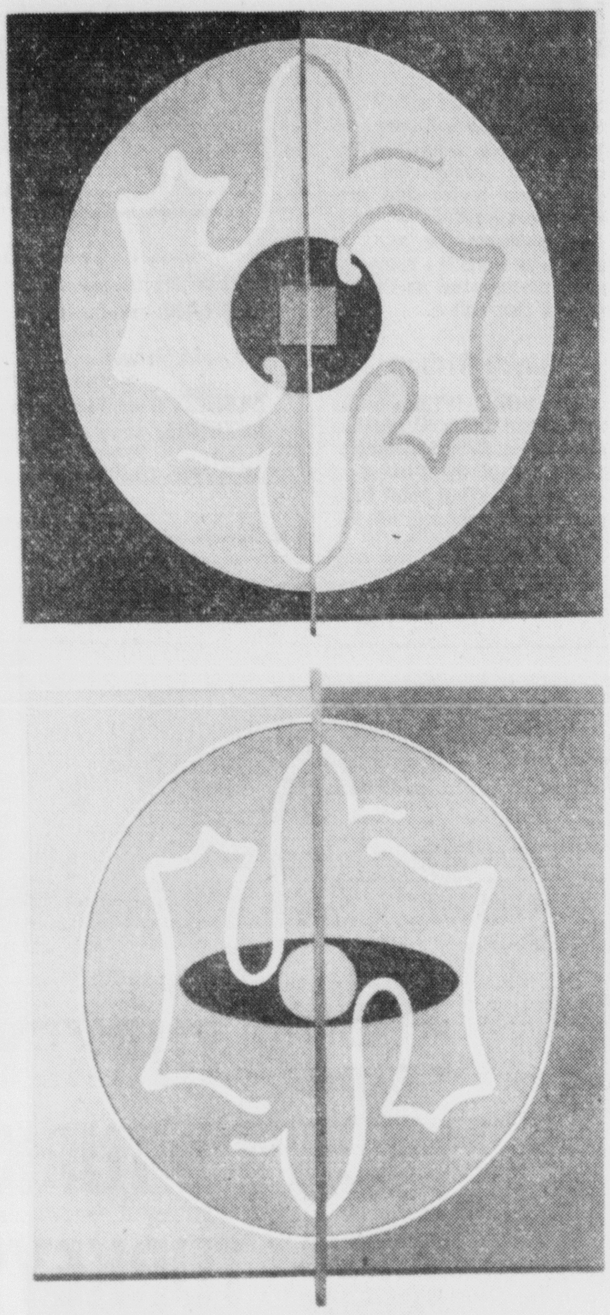
Gershwin's music appeared in all three sections of the concert. His popularity and lightweight melodies kept him a member of the jazz circle, although he yearned to be accepted as a "serious" composer, and his harmonies and developmental abilities were far more mature than those of his fellow jazz artists. He belongs to neither camp, or both, depending on whom you're talking to, but certainly he is a member of the third stream.

Mintun's medley from Sigmund Romberg and George Gershwin's musical "Rosalie" (each composer contributed seven or eight songs), was filled with really good Gershwin tunes contrasted with Romberg's operetta music which brought chuckles from the audience.

The third section of the program presented the Jim Lowe Trio. Three fine musicians under the guidance of fleet-fingered Jim Lowe played contemporary jazz beautifully and without the usual ear-splitting amplification other groups find mandatory.

Links with the classical stream were only briefly evident in the piano harmonies, the occasional bowed obligato bass, and the use of varied percussive sounds from gong-like tones to woody clacks on anything within striking distance by the very able drummer.

This part of the program was far too long, as the large audience was not made up of the very young who seem to have better endurance. Yet this msuic posed the question, "Who will borrow from whom?" if the third stream is to continue, for much of today's new serious music seems to be aiming away from recognizable rhythmic identification — a technique that is the antithesis of jazz.



DANCER'S PAINTINGS — Artist-dancer-choreographer Welland Lathrop creates curvilinear dance patterns which seem to float in front of a central stage in this two-part painting entitled "Arabesque." Other works in his one-man show in Dominican College's San Marco Gallery include geometric paintings with three-dimensional elements.

Wallace Crowns Black Girl Homecoming Queen

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Ten years ago last summer Gov. George Wallace stood defiantly in a doorway at the University of Aalabama in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the school from being integrated.

Saturday, Wallace, paralyzed from the waist down in a 1972 assassination attempt, sat in a wheel chair in the center of the university's football field and crowned the school's first black homecoming queen.

The queen, Terry Points of Birmingham, appeared with Wallace and her court at halftime of the Alabama-Miami (Fla.) game.

Wallace told the Southern Conference of Black Mayors yesterday at Tuskegee, Ala., that, "We are all God's children" and he had never opposed anyone achieving "the American dream."

In a speech interrupted a dozen times by applause, Wallace pledged to "work and cooperate with all of you. I am governor of all the people." He received a standing ovation at the end of his speech.

Convict Suits Said A Problem

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California convicts are wasting the time of judges and prosecutors by filing lawsuits for "recreation," Attorney General Evelle J. Younger says.

"The filing of lawsuits appears to be rapidly becoming the favorite recreation of California's prisoners," the Republican gubernatorial contender said. "It seems more popular than volleyball or TV."

In his weekly statewide radio broacast' he cited figures showing 1,100 such suits were filed by state convicts last year. He said the number would rise to 1,500 by next year, not including appeals.

ART REVIEW

Lathrop Began Painting Late But Work Is Very Creative

By ADA GARFINKEL

Artist-dancer-choreographer Welland Lathrop is a very talented and creative person. Entering the world of painting rather late, he has assimilated its most basic and compelling aspects and has himself become an innovative artist.

One responds affirmatively, both intellectually and aesthetically, to his exhibit of paintings in Dominican College's San Marco Gallery.

Some of his works are frankly decorative, others owe their allegiance to Mondrian. But his own acutely honed sensibilities account for his color nuances and for his orchestration of space, movement, and form.

One of the most striking characteristics of Lathrop's canvases is the impeccable smoothness and unblemished uniformity of his paint distribution. This is accomplished by going over the freshly applied acrylic paint with a very stiff brush, impregnating the color into the primed duck so that paint and canvas become a unit.

Lathrop also adds a new dimension to his works by mounting a superstructure on them, either of finely polished hardwood or of clear plastic.

Where these geometric grids are used to outline an important plane or contour they are effective elements which define architectural interiors in "Space No. 2" and "Space No. 8," and a quadrangle in "Space No. 7." Or, in its simplest permutation, in which the single wooden arc in "No. 3" dividing the red and black planes, extends horizontally like a bow beyond the painting's edges.

In several, the bisecting grid seems arbitrary, and in "No. 4" its interference with the vibrantly rich color play makes the grid seem redundant and gimmicky.

In several paintings, Lathrop plays with color relations which tend to create optical illusions of alternating space. Planes which act as floor lines, walls, and ceilings now advance and now recede as one views them.

"Space Play No. 6" — the largest painting — exudes an air of quiet, austere mystery. Its color chord is essentially black, white, and gray in cool and warm modulations. A wooden grid defines the center section upon which a quadrilateral plane acts as the right half of a pair of swinging doors with semi-circles as door handles. The left "door" (black) is closed; the right one, in soft gray, opens inwardly part-way. A sharp triangular light source casts its reflection in warm pink-gray.

A pair of "Arabesques" refer to Lathrop's extensive dance experience, while a group of three 24-inch square paintings — the "White" series —depart from planar geometrics into the snowflake imagery possible with French curves.

In these white-on-white paintings, opaque medium added to the paint was used to build up the interesting appliqued effect.

This exhibit will continue through Dec. 15 and may be seen Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tryouts Are Slated For Musical

The Novato Community Players will hold tryouts Dec. 2 and 5 for their spring musical "Fiddler on the Roof", according to producer Paul Terry.

Auditions will be from noon to 5 p.m. Dec. 2 and from 7 to 10 p.m. Dec. 5 at the Novato Community House, 906 Machin Avenue, Novato.

Robert Marchant will be the director, David Block, will handle music, and Dickinson Buell and Lei Mann will be choreographers.

Terry said the theater group has lowered membership age from 21 to 18 years of age and would welcome participation by young members.

Singer To Aid Viet Benefit

Folksinger Mimi Farina will perform in a benefit concert for the Bach Mai Hospital in Vietnam and Amnesty International Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall of the College of Marin.

Included in the program will be Jane Fonda's slide show, "Women of Vietnam." Narrator will be Jane Barton, a physical therapist who worked with civilian war casualties at the Quaker Quang Dgai Center in South Vietnam.

The concert is cosponsored by the Womens' International League for Peace and Freedom and the Associated Students of the College of Marin.

Patrolman Aids In Baby's Birth

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Badge No. 8045 performed a job beyond the call of duty yesterday by delivering a baby boy on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officer Fred Pylant was flagged down by a young couple in a van just west of the toll plaza. He then aided Patricia Hutton of Oakland with the birth of her child while the van sat on an inside lane.

Both mother and child were reported "doing fine" at a San Francisco hospital early today.

Detroit School Ruling Promised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule this term on lower court orders aimed at integrating Detroit's mostly black inner city schools with those in nearby white suburbs. At least six other cities are involved in similar litigation.

Michigan state authorities and school boards of a number of Detroit suburbs had appealed the actions of US District Judge Stephen J. Roth and the 6th US Court of Appeals directing a study of school merger plans including the possible use of busing.

The Detroit school board and the NAACP's Legal Defense Fund (LDF), which initiated the suit, had urged the high court to put off any consideration of the case until a formal plan was completed.

The court will hear arguments on the dispute at an unspecified date and then hand down a written decision before ending its term in June.

The circuit court ruling on June 12 slightly modified Roth's approach but indicated that the integration approach basically was acceptable.

Other cities which face similar situations are Indianapolis; Hartford, Conn.; Wilmington, Del.; Buffalo, Atlanta and Louisville.

In other actions, the court:

Ruled 8 to 1 that employers may deny jobs to aliens despite the 1964 Civil Rights Act which bars discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Agreed to hear the claim of a white law student that the University of Washington is discriminating in favor of minority groups by favoring the admission of blacks.

Ruled unconstitutional Missouri abortion statutes on grounds they violated a woman's right to privacy. The court acted in a brief order affirming a ruling by a federal district court which cited the Supreme Court's decision on abortions.

Struck down an Illinois law which required a 23-month waiting period for voters who wish to switch parties in primary elections.

Testimonial Dinner For Schwartz

Aaron Schwartz, San Rafael merchant and community leader will be honored Dec. 2 at a testimonial dinner at the social hall at Temple Rodef Sholem in San Rafael. The event is sponsored by Marin Jewish Organizations.

Bishop C. Edward Crowther, assistant bishop for the State of California will be the featured speaker. Sidney Rudy of Kentfield will be the master of ceremonies.

Schwartz will be honored as a "shomer yisrael", a defender of Israel. He was one of the founders of Congregation Rodef Sholom. He is a past president of Marin B'Nai B'rith and a founder of the Marin Jewish Community Center.

A champagne reception will be at 6 p.m. with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Nomination Of Saxbe Said Illegal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A law professor from the University of Chicago said today that Sen. William B. Saxbe's nomination to be attorney general was unconstitutional and that his confirmation could jeopardize indictments and convictions under his administration.

Philip Kurland told the Senate Judiciary Committee that a constitutional provision which bars a member of Congress from appointment to any post where the salary was increased by legislation during his elected term, could not legally be circumvented by a proposed bill.

Saxbe voted to increase the pay for attorney general in 1969 from $35,000 to $60,000. The bill being considered by the committee would return the attorney general's salary to its pre-1969 level.

But Kurland said the bill "would fly directly in the face" of the constitutional prohibition. "I think the language is clear and unambiguous ... and disqualifies a member of Congress."

He further warned that if the bill was passed and Saxbe confirmed, the constitutional questions raised could "jeopardize the indictments and convictions brought by the attorney general."

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., chairing the hearings, said the administration-proposed bill to clear the way for Saxbe's confirmation raised "serious constitutional questions," particularly the question of whether a "constitutional bar can be removed by legislation."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said yesterday he believed the Saxbe nomination was in trouble because of the salary question.

"Mr. Saxbe is in trouble. There seems to be very serious questions about the constitutionality of the nomination," said Proxmire. "It's absolutely clear cut, it's a mechanical application in the case of Mr. Saxbe and the attorney general's office. I say that with great reluctance because I like Saxbe."

Proxmire is not a member of the Judiciary Committee but Assistant Democratic Leader Robert Byrd is. Byrd, D-W.Va., has expressed "serious constitutional doubts" about the bill.

The White House is withholding Saxbe's formal nomination pending congressional action on the bill.

Way To Use Up Turkey

What are you having for dinner on Friday or Saturday? Combine the left over turkey with apples and serve with hot buttered rolls, cheese and coffee.

LAST-OF-THE-TURKEY APPLE SALAD

3 apples
1 small Bermuda or Spanish onion
4 stalks celery, sliced
2 cups diced, left-over turkey
Bottled Italian salad dressing
Mayonnaise
Iceberg lettuce

Core apples; do not pare; dice. Slice onion; separate into rings; combine apples, onion, celery and turkey. Add enough salad dressing to coat. Mix stuffing with enough mayonnaise to hold together; shape into small balls. Cut lettuce crosswise into four slices. Place lettuce slices on individual salad plates; top with salad mixture; garnish with stuffing balls. Makes four servings.

Hot Sandwich Is Easily Made

When guests come for lunch this hot sandwich is easy

BROILED CRAB MEAT SANDWICHES

1 6½ oz. can (1 cup) crab meat
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tbsp. A.1 Sauce
6 bread slices (lightly toasted)
6 slices American cheese

Mix together crab meat, mayonnaise, A.1 Sauce. Spread on bread slices. Top each open sandwich with slice of American cheese. Place under broiler until cheese is golden brown.

GRACE THE Thanksgiving table with a succulent turkey stuffed with mushrooms and wild rice stuffing. The stuffing is simple and delicious.

A Simple But Rich Stuffing

This simple stuffing recipe begins with a package of wild rice with herb seasonings.

MUSHROOM AND WILD RICE STUFFING

2 6 oz. packages wild rice mix (with herb seasonings)
4 slices bacon, diced
2 T butter or margarine
1 cup chopped celery
1 4 oz. can sliced button mushrooms
Hot water
1 cup toasted bread cubes (croutons)

In a 10-inch frying pan or pot, brown rice mixture with bacon in butter. Stir in contents of seasoning envelope and celery. Drain mushrooms (reserving liquid) and add to rice. Add hot water to mushroom liquid to make 4½ cups. Stir into rice. Cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Stir in coutons. Use as stuffing for turkey or other poultry.

THE TURKEY

Simple Directions For Cooking Bird

For a properly "turned out" turkey for Thanksgiving these important facts should be followed:

To Buy: Allow about one pound of turkey per serving to be sure there is plenty for seconds and leftovers.

To Thaw: Leave turkey in its original plastic bag and use one of the following three methods: (A) Place turkey on tray in refrigerator and allow three to four days; (B) Place turkey in heavy, brown paper sack, close ends and thaw at room temperature. Allow one hour per pound of turkey, and (C) Put turkey into sink or pan and cover with cold water (changing water frequently). Allow half-hour per pound. Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as thawed.

To Prepare and Stuff: Remove plastic bag; remove neck and giblets from cavities; rinse turkey and wipe dry. Cook neck and giblets for broth for flavoring dressing, and for giblet gravy. Prepare stuffing and stuff both neck and body cavities loosely, allowing about two-thirds cup stuffing per pound of oven-ready weight. Fasten down legs either by tying or tucking under skin band. Neck skin should be skewered to back and wings twisted akimbo.

To Roast: Place turkey, breast up, on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with butter, margarine or cooking oil, if desired. If roast-meat thermometer is used, insert into thick part of thigh. Bulb should not touch bone. Roast in preheated 325-degree oven. Time chart below is guide to length of roasting time. A "tent" of foil placed loosely over turkey keeps it from browning too fast. It can be removed from time to time in order to baste turkey. Remove foil for last half hour for final browning.

To Test Doneness: (A) Roast-meat thermometer registers 180-185 degrees; (B) Thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with thumb and forefinger, and (C) Drumstick and thigh move easily.

TIME CHART FOR ROASTING TURKEY IN PREHEATED 325 DEGREE OVEN

| Ready-to-Cook Weight | Approximate Cooking Time | Thermometer |
|---|---|---|
| 6 to 8 lbs. | 3 - 3½ hours | |
| 8 to 12 lbs. | 3½ to 4½ hours | All at 180-185 degrees |
| 12 to 16 lbs. | 4½ to 5½ hours | |
| 16 to 20 lbs. | 5½ to 6½ hours | |
| 10 to 24 lbs. | 6½ to 7 hours | |

Note: Because turkeys vary from one another, cooking times can only approximate; therefore, it would be well to allow an extra half hour of roasting time in case your turkey requires it.

A Low Calorie Stuffing For Traditional Feast

Peggy Hopkins, home economist for the North Bay division Pacific Gas and Electric Co., offers this low calorie recipe for stuffing the holiday turkey.

SKILLET STUFFING

1 cup finely chopped celery
1 cup finely chopped onion OR ½ cup chopped shallots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup cooked bulgur or whole grain wheat
½ cup cooked rice
¼ cup chicken broth
1 teaspoon sage
1 teaspoon sweet basil
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1 bunch fresh washed spinach leaves, cut in bite-size pieces (4 cups, packed)
½ cup frozen peas
½ large red-skinned eating apple (unpeeled and finely diced)
¼ cup minced parsley
Salt and pepper to taste

In large non-stick skillet, saute celery and onion in butter until limp. Add cooked bulgur and rice, chicken broth and herbs. Cook covered, until moisture is absorbed. Add spinach and peas. Continue cooking about 5 minutes, or just until peas are tender. Stir in apple and parsley; adjust seasonings. Serve piping hot. Makes four cups, approximately 166 calories per cup. (Note: Cook bulgur and rice according to directions on package and for added flavor, use chicken broth for liquid.)

Good Food Handling Practices Are A Must

Diane Dreier, home economics teacher at White Hill School in Fairfax, reminds those cooking turkeys during the holiday season that good home food handling practices will reduce the spread of Salmonellosis, a disease which is often misdiagnosed as influenza.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration have launched an intensive consumer education drive because communicable disease figures compiled by the government show that 56 per cent of the cases of Salmonellosis reported (and most cases are not reported) between 1966 and 1971 came from mishandling of food in the home. The government has taken steps to eliminate Salmonella contamination from processed foods and will continue that effort. They know, however, that they can never get rid of the bug. But good home food preparation practices can go a long way toward reducing the "upset stomachs" which are traceable to it.

Salmonella bugs are ubiquitous — just everywhere. Insects, rodents and pets carry them, and they are very apt to be present in raw meat, poultry and other raw foods. Although they are killed by thorough cooking, the possibilities for transferring them from one food to another in the home kitchen are tremendous. The following are examples:

Meat or poultry, while being defrosted in the refrigerator, drips onto foods stored there which are not cooked before serving.

A chopping board is used to cut up a raw food which contains Salmonella bacteria, and then later, without being cleaned carefully, is used to cut up another food which is not thoroughly cooked before serving.

A bowl or serving spoon is used for a raw food, and then reused for that food after it is cooked.

A dog, or his dish or the pet turtle or his dish, are handled and hands are not washed before preparing food.

The Department of Agriculture says: "Salmonella bacteria can live and grow in the digestive tract of man, once contaminated food is eaten. When this happens, these symptoms may occur in 12 to 36 hours: Severe headache, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal cramps, and fever. Because of the similarity of symptoms, it may be mistaken for 'flu' or other stomach disorders. The condition is rarely fatal except among infants or elderly persons whose resistance is low. The illness usually lasts two to seven days."

Put in the context of a tragic aftermath to a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner, when the extra large turkey, complete with stuffing is most apt to be served, the lesson may be better retained. The precautions to observe in preparing and cooking the "big bird," according to USDA, follow:

Cook turkey completely to an internal temperature of 185 degrees F. Never partially cook it and finish cooking later.

Cook stuffing thoroughly. If poultry is stuffed, cook until thermometer inserted into stuffing reaches at least 165 degrees F. Better than that, cook stuffing separately. Bacteria grow rapidly in the lukewarm stuffing. Do not thaw commercially frozen stuffed poultry before baking.

Thaw poultry in the refrigerator. If you must thaw it more quickly, put it in a waterproof plastic bag, seal tightly, and defrost in cold water.

Although turkey is a good starting point for this lesson at this time of year, it is important not to limit the attack on Salmonellosis to this one foodstuff. It is also true that the Salmonella bug is only one of many kinds of food-borne bacteria that can cause illness.

Luckily though, the same sanitation practices which prevent the transmission of Salmonella bacteria are effective against other food-borne contaminants. According to Charles Edwards, Assistant Secretary for Health of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, "Precautions which can be taken in the home are fully effective against those 10 per cent of food-borne illnesses which are caused by Salmonella. These same precautions are effective against virtually all of the other 90 per cent of food-borne illnesses. An informed consumer can play a more significant role in reducing illness than even the ost massive government regulatory program."

The precautions are simple:

Use hot soapy water to wash hands and utensils. Don't forget the knives and spoons. Scrub the cutting board after use, and use a weak solution of chlorine bleach (see label instructions).

Keep the food shopping for last — after other errands are done —to avoid letting groceries sit in a warm car.

Keep hot foods hot (above 140 degrees) and cold foods cold (below 40 degrees).

Keep the time from preparation to serving of cooked foods to a minimum.

For handouts to back up your lesson on food-borne illnesses, you might contact your local Extension Service to request copies of "It's Good Food — Keep it Safe" and "Salmonella Fact Sheet."

USDA and FDA have been working on some joint materials. To get on the list to receive these, write to Nancy Steorts, Chairman, Food Safety Task Force, Special Assistant to the Secretary for Consumer Affairs, USDA, Room 532-A, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250.

THIS IS NOT a flan, but a pumpkin-cheese pie — a little something different from the usual pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving dinner. Individual servings can be topped with a simple sour cream mixture.

Pumpkin-Cheese Pie Offers Something A Little Different

Pumpkin pie is a Thanksgiving tradition, but for those looking for a creative, new way to serve the traditional favorite pumpkin-cheese pie might be the answer.

PUMPKIN-CHEESE PIE

½ recipe butter pastry shell (recipe below)
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 eggs
1 1-pound can pumpkin sour cream topping (recipe below)
12 pecan halves

BUTTER PASTRY SHELL

Combine one and one-half cups all-purpose flour (unsifted) with three tablesooons sugar and one-half cup butter or margarine, cut in chunks. Rub mixture with your fingers until it's even textured and butter lumps are no longer distinguishable. Stir in two egg yolks until blended, then work dough with your hands until it holds a smooth ball. Press dough evenly over the bottom and sides of a nine-inch cake pan with removable bottom. Bake in a 300 degree oven for about 30 minutes or until a pale gold. Cool.

FILLING

Beat cream cheese smoothly with the sugar and spices. Blend in eggs; then add pumpkin. Mix thoroughly. Pour filling into baked pastry shell and bake in a 325 degree oven for about 35 minutes or until the center no longer looks liquid when the pan is gently shaken. Remove pie from oven and spread sour cream topping evenly over the filling; return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Cool, then cover and chill thoroughly. Remove pan sides, garnish with pecan halves around outer edge, and serve. Yield: six to eight servings

SOUR CREAM TOPPING

Mix together one cup dairy sour cream with six tablespoons sugar and one teaspoon vanilla.

Cranberry Stuffing Can Help Any Meal

To perk up an every day menu, or to serve traditional stuffing in a very festive way, this cranberry bread stuffing can be baked either in a casserole or loaf pan. Those ravishing red cranberries add color flair and fabulous flavor.

CRANBERRY BREAD STUFFING

(Makes 2-quart casserole or 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf)

8 cups ½-inch bread cubes, lightly toasted
1 cup Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, halved, rinsed and drained
½ cup pitted chopped prunes
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped onion (1 medium)
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
⅓ cup butter, melted
3 eggs, well beaten
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken broth OR 1½ cups rich chicken stock

Mix together toasted bread cubes, cranberries, prunes, celery, onion, salt and poultry seasoning. Sprinkle with melted butter and toss to blend. Spoon mixture into heavily greased two-quart casserole or 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Beat eggs and chicken broth until well blended. Pour mixture over bread. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour or until firm. Loosen edges and unmold. Cut into slices and serve with chicken, turkey or ham.

Banana Bread And Nut Bread Are Combined

Banana bread and nut bread are two treats which are always popular. Now the new Homemade Bread Cook Book brings these two together into one loaf with this recipe.

BANANA NUT BREAD

2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 cup mashed banana
2 tablespoons milk
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Stir thoroughly the first four ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add eggs and peel; beat well. Combine banana and milk; add to creamed mixture alternately with flour mixture, beating just until smooth after each addition. Stir in nuts. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Wrap; store overnight.

Tangerines Herald This Time Of Year

The appearance of tangerines traditionally heralds the approach of Thanksgiving. The holidays wouldn't be complete without these tangy orange fruits. Since the holidays bring out the child in each of us, it's no wonder that these easy-to-peel, "made for kids" fruits are so eagerly awaited each year.

Tangerines aren't just for the holidays, however. They will be in your markets until May.

Remember that each variety of tangerine has a slightly different characteristic, but they can be used interchangeably in recipes. Plan to keep them on hand for snacks, lunchboxes or for exciting recipes such as candied tangerine yams, an excellent accompaniment to the Thanksgiving dinner.

CANDIED TANGERINE YAMS
(four to six servings)

3 tangerines
¼ cup fresh squeezed tangerine juice
2 cans (1 pound each) whole yams
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Grate peel from tangerines to yield one teaspoon; reserve. Ream juice from tangerine to yield one-fourth cup. Peel remaining two tangerines; separate into segments, removing any seeds. Drain yams. Place in shallow baking dish. Top yams with tangerine segments. Melt butter in saucepan. Add brown sugar, stirring until dissolved. Mix cornstarch and tangerine juice together, stirring until completely blended. Add to saucepan with tangerine peel. Bring mixture to boil and bubble two minutes, stirring constantly. Pour over yams and bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

FOR DARK MEAT lovers an unusual Thanksgiving treat could be individual turkey drumsticks. They cook in about two hours.

Try A 'Drumstick Bird' This Season

If you have a family of dark meat lovers, your holiday bird may well be individual turkey drumsticks. The meaty legs (and wings) of very large turkeys are cooked the moist-heat method in foil-lined pan, foil covered.

Or, they may get a loose individual wrap of heavy duty foil and laid in roasting pan.

Cook wings at 350 degrees one and a half to two hours until fork tender, legs about two hours.

Foil may be folded back after one hour, melted butter brushed or drizzled on and baking continued for a nice brown.

Allow one leg or wing joint for each serving.

Necessity Spawned Designer Business

By LOGAN BENTLEY LESSONA
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

VENICE, Italy — Donna Giuliana de Camerino sat in her Venice apartment, stroking the long-haired dachschund in her lap, saying softly, "Be still now, Joker."

A handsome woman, she wore a turquoise cotton polo shirt and matching pants of her own design. They contrasted with her bronzed skin and short curly russet hair.

"We have over 300 exclusive franchised botiques all over the world," she stated. "I hope within 1974 or 1975 to have a shop on New York's Fifth Avenue. My things are currently sold in Saks, Lord and Taylor, and Bonwit Teller, but they are not all together and they look more effective displayed that way."

THE DI CAMERINO trademarks are the colorful printed velvet handbags and luggage. ("I wanted leather in bright colors and couldn't find them, when I discovered what I was looking for at a velvet factory right here in Venice," the designer explained). There also are simple silk, wool, or Arnel jersey dresses printed with trompe-l'oeil patterns simulating belts, cable stitching, draped scarves, and even jackets and divided skirts.

Donna Giuliana started making dresses six years ago because "I was tired of the flower-and geometric Pucci-type prints and wanted something different," she said.

Many of her ideas have come out of necessity, she says, but the million-dollar business she heads today was also born from necessity—the need to survive. Even today, the painful story of her family's flight during World War II is difficult to tell.

DONNA GUILIANA di Camerino has built a fashion empire that extends through 300 exclusive franchised boutiques all over the world from her Venice, Italy, home.

Giuliana Cohn, the daughter of a family of prominent Jewish lawyers, married the manager of the Banca Nazionale di Lavoro in Venice.

"THERE WAS a a big difference of political opinion in my own family," she explained. My mother's father was a fascist, while my father's father was a socialist. But I must tell you that in the tragic story of the Jews in Italy, it was the Italian police who saved many of us.

"We left our home in Venice and stayed in a hospital for a while; we thought it was safer. Then on Sept. 2,1943, we went to my granfather's villa near Venice. One day my husband went to Venice to get some money out of the bank, but the minute he arrived a policeman recognized him and told him to hide immediately. The police went to the bank and got the money for us.

"At 7 p.m. on the night of Nov. 11 the police came and warned us that the fascists were coming to get us during the night. And in fact they arrived at 8 a.m. the next morning. But we had left; I even forgot the diapers for the baby, I packed so quickly. We took the train from Venice to Milan, and from there we crossed the border to Switzerland with smugglers. If we are safe today it was because the people of Italy always helped us, and especially the police."

IN SWITZERLAND Donna Giuliana was stoppped on the street one day by a woman who offered to buy her handsome satchel-type purse for much money than she had paid. But when she went to replace it she found she could not afford the purses in Swiss shops, so she bought some leather and went to a saddlemaker who reproduced her purse.

Later, on her way to visit friends in Ascona, the refugee police on the train accused her of smuggling handbags from Italy to Switzerland, and said she must return to Italy.

"Luckily, a very famous lawyer named Carnellutti was with me," Donna Giuliana recalled. "He defended me...the papers wrote about it, and by the time I got back to Lugano I found myself in the handbag business."

Couple Repeats Vows In Fairfax Ceremony

Teresa Lynn Wilgenbush of Fairfax and Robert Edward Christensen of Makiki, Hawaii, were married on Nov. 10 at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

The bridal attendant was Teresa's sister Karen Wilgenbush of Fairfax.

Kenneth Svanum of San Anselmo served as best man for the bridegroom. The ushers were Wes Newbold of Novato and Steve Wilgenbush of Fairfax, the bride's brother.

After the reception in Fairfax, the couple left on a wedding trip to Tahoe. They will live in Makiki.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilgenbush of Fairfax and the sister of Rita, Debbie and Laurie Wilgenbush.

She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, attended the College of Marin and has been employed at Long's Drugs in San Anselmo. Teresa is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wilgenbush of Bethel Island.

Robert is the son of Mrs. Bernard Foster of Fairfax and the brother of Soren and Ken Svanum, Karen Schultz, Martha Christensen and the late Bernice Maloney.

He also is a Drake High School graduate and is serving with the Navy at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Worthy Matron Is Installed By Mill Valley Eastern Star

Mrs. John M. Croxall of Tiburon was installed as the worthy matron of Mill Valley Chapter 219 of the Order of the Eastern Star at installation ceremonies at the Masonic Temple in Mill Valley Thursday.

This was the 70th installation held by the chapter since its founding in 1904.

Mary C. Croxall is associated with her husband in the financial planning business. The firm's offices are in Tiburon.

She has been a member of the chapter since 1970, and has held the line offices leading to the highest office. The purpose of the organization is to assist Masonic families and others at time of need, according to Mrs. Croxall. The Mill Valley chapter holds a fashion show and luncheon in April and flea market in September to raise money or Masonic charities.

The new worthy matron also is active in the International Association of Financial Planners, the Tiburon Peninsula Club,the Corinthian Yacht Club Women's Auxiliary and the Corn Huskers Folk Dance group.

She was born in Tien Tsin, China, when her father was a professor of science at Peiping University. She was educated in Glendale, graduating from Hoover High School, before starting her business career.

The Croxalls have lived in Marin County for 14 years. They have five grown children, Mrs. Robert Neville, Mrs. Michael Mister, Edward, Gary and Cheryl Croxall.

Mary Croxall's hobbies are tennis, square dancing and chess.

Other incoming officers are John M. Croxall, worthy patron, Mrs. Carl Umland, associate matron; William Bromm, associate patron; Mrs. Joseph Emmett, secretary; Mrs. Carl Hope, treasurer; Mrs. Aldine Sutton, conductress, Mrs. Harry Thomas, associate conductress William Howard, chaplain; Mrs. Howard Stahl, marshall, Mrs. Laura McCourtney, organist, Mrs. Louis Cabella, Adah, Mrs. Henry Yeats, Ruth, Mrs. Donald Bremer, Esther, Mrs. Mark Lund, Martha, Mrs. William Bromm, Electa, Mrs. William Howard, warder, and C. Bruce Mills, Sentinel.

Information Is Just Telephone Dial Away

(The author, a member of the Monitor's Washington Bureau, is substituting for the vacationing columnist Josephine Ripley.)

By LUCIA MOUAT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — You say you want the latest football scores and you want them now? Not to mention the details on that downtown department store sale and a rundown on procedures for getting a marriage license?

The day may be coming when such informational nuggets are only a dialed number away.

Many people are finding that there is nothing quite like this sort of recorded telephone message to learn what they want to know at the moment they want to know it.

Overseas, the dial-a-message tradition is firmly established. In such diverse areas as Australia, the United Kingdom, and the Netherlands, callers listen to everything from jokes and horoscopes to recipes and the latest hit records.

NOT SO yet in the United States.

"We're really just starting to get into this over here," says Herbert Johnson, sales development supervisor in New York for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. Johnson says he can easily imagine at least 30 varieties of phone-recorded messages that would help the American consumer.

So far, US efforts have focused on the time and the weather.

The time service, letting callers in some 800 cities know the hour down to the nearest second, is the more far-reaching. Recorded weather forecasts, by contrast, are currently available for the dialing in only 27 cities.

But under an amibitious new action plan in which the Bell System, the US Independent Telephone Association, and the National Weather Service are cooperating, that total is slated to grow by 170 more cities in the next few years.

ONE REASON the dial-a-forecast has expanded so slowly in relation to the demand for it is that call volume is so irregular. Sometimes there are relatively few calls; when storm clouds gather, though, busy signals abound.

With the time service, the volume of calls is greater but much more evenly spread out. A small morning peak is quite predictable.

The weather service expansion plan contains one important new ingredient: an answering machine aimed specifically at reducing the possibility of a caller's getting a busy signal. In addition to ensuring that the message starts at the beginning for each caller, the machine can whittle the recording to the slim essentials when lines are clogged.

Estimates are that with the expansion, the number of weather dialings will step up from the current 500 million a year to three billion. Just how fast the changeover comes depends on local telephone companies and finances.

"IT'S ALL a matter of economics," Johnson insists. "That's what has held up expansion of the system. We know it's needed, the government knows it's needed, but who's going to pay the bill?

"Any advertiser is a good prospect," says Johnson. He

Parent-Teen Survey Turns Up Answers That Are Surprising

DEAR READERS:

At long last, our computers have spewed forth the answers to the nationwide survey we recently conducted to ascertain the attitudes of modern parents to their even more modern teen-aged children. Were Moms and Dads, we wondered, as conscientious, concerned, ambivalent — and muddle-minded — about their youngsters as, well, you or I?

The answers were surprising in many instances . . . more liberal in some areas than one might expect . . . more disturbed by what could be considered lesser problems than by such headlined evils as premarital sex, drugs and drinking.

Participants in the survey, who numbered in the thousands, covered a good cross section of the country and some of the answers to our 35-subject questionnaire were especially surprising from a geographical point of view.

For instance, correspondents from the supposedly sophisticated East Coast held the most optimistic beliefs in the virginity of today's young. And, in even greater numbers than Bible Belt dwellers, admitted that they, themselves, had remained chaste until after the wedding ceremony.

Almost 65 per cent of our suburban north New Jersey wives, for example, said they had been virgin brides, as compared to 37 per cent of their hold-out sisters in parts of California. But New Jerseyites seemed most ready for re-evaluation: Their "Yes" answers to "Have your attitudes about premarital sex changed in the last ten years?" were 11 per cent above the national average of 43 per cent.

Country-wide, 45 per cent of the female parents and 71 per cent of the males admitted premarital intercourse, but almost three-fourths wanted their daughters to remain virgin until marriage — and 40 per cent believed they would.

While half held the same wishful thought for thier sons, only one-sixth expected much in this department. These same parents condemned the double standard five to one!

Although most preferred virginity for their children, respondents showed little faith in other teen-agers' restraint. They all but unanimously agreed "the majority of today's young unmarrieds are sexually experienced before they reach age 20," and set their estimate of non-virgins at near 75 per cent.

Several who recalled the guilt and worry of their premarital "sneaking around" wrote, "I don't want this for my kids!" not fully comprehending that guilt, at least, has all but departed the modern scene. They term communication "good" while dreaming of "better." And if middle-aged adults are confused or ambivalent about today's sexual freedom, it is because their upbringing shouts, "No!" while society asks, "What's the harm?"

Comments enclosed with quiz sheets indicate parents — those arch reactionaries, according to their young — are beginning to face this last question. In fact, teen-agers would be surprised at how many of the "stone-agers" they shield from reality, are secret liberals.

Tomorrow we will present further views of "The New Morality" as expressed by the nation's parents — HELEN AND SUE

Marin Parents High In Liberality

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Syndicated columnist Helen Bottel did this special analysis of responses from I-J readers to her nationwide reader survey of parents' attitudes about teen-agers she conducted in her column, Generation Rap.

By HELEN BOTTLE

Comparing Independent-Journal readers' responses to Parent Survey participants from other parts of the United States, we found they shared the same pride and concern for their children, but they often differed markedly in life styles and attitudes. On the whole, Marinites who answered our questionnaires were:

More liberal, even than respondents in other parts of California.

More affluent. Average income was a whopping $26,000 per year — $3,500 higher than the next-wealthiest area, Bergen County, N.J.

Somewhat less religiously oriented. Only 7 per cent, as compared to 18 per cent elsewhere, thought religion deeply influenced today's youth.

More open to change.

And apparently less virginal at marriage.

A scant 38 per cent of participating Marin County mothers said they had been virgin brides, while the nationwide average response was 55 per cent — up to 65 per cent in some areas.

Several, especially among the over 45-year-old group, offered excuses: "I married later than most," or "My husband was the only one — we were engaged at the time," or "I had to get married and I've regretted it ever since."

One woman in her 50s expressed the general guilt of her generation, "For years I thought I was a terrible person for giving in — and it affected my relationship with my husband. What a relief when I finally learned through the Kinsey Report that I was one of many! I'm glad our children can be more forthright about sex, though sometimes this worries me too."

That local parents still think waiting is better was indicated by their 60 per cent "yes" answers to "Do you want your daughter to remain virgin until marriage?"

But they were realistic too: Only 27 per cent believed there was much chance. "What with college and careers postponing marriage, it isn't likely," a Tiburon dweller added.

Set the above figures next to statistics from the deep South, and you'll see that vast differences in sexual attitudes still exist in the United States. Sixty per cent of the Georgia mothers replying, for example, were virgin brides, nine-tenth of them hopes their daughters might travel the same route — and over half expressed faith that they would.

The survey results were based on some 3,000 representative replies from parents across the nation and another 2,000 were analyzed for their comments.

Marin readers were heavy contributors — about 200 parents replied, and 159 were used in this and the national analysis.

Information Is Just Telephone Dial Away

stresses that the price is competitive with advertising in newspapers or on radio and has the added advantage of giving the sponsor a personal identity with the caller.

In many ways, the city of Indianapolis, Ind., has served as the bellwether for commercial telephone weather. If you dial 317-222-2362 you may be told where American Fletcher's newest bank is located before you get the day's forecast. American Fletcher has been the sole sponsor at Indianapolis's weather service for well over a decade, and the number nets 18 million calls a year.

AS FOR the dialer who may wonder about the propriety of a commercial sponsor for such public announcements, Johnson suggests that it is a fairer method than adding the cost to the general rate base, charging many who do not use the service.

"We've elected for the moment to have the advertiser pay the bill," he says.

"My husband found himself a younger woman... me."

Donna Dunio–
Scranton, Pennsylvania

"Elaine Powers gave my husband something I couldn't—a trimmer, younger looking wife. At 174 pounds, I looked and felt years older than 25. Dieting didn't help much, so finally I went to Elaine Powers. The instructors really took a personal interest, and that made a difference. When I got to my goal of 144 pounds, they told me I could be even slimmer. I made it all the way to 124, and size 9!

My husband says if I looked any younger, he'd be embarrassed to go out with me."

Apron Making Can Be An Easy Chore

Anyone who can sew a little can make a most appreciated apron for a new mother, suggests the Soap and Detergent Association. Use easy-to-clean vinyl, possibly color-coordinated with the nursery, and an old apron as a pattern. Cut the shape and stitch as usual. Now, from clear vinyl, cut a series of pockets — small ones for the top and roomy storage sections for the skirt part. Stitch them securely in place.

Colorful pictures tucked into the top pockets will interest baby while being changed or bathed. The lower pockets hold pins and changing items. And the apron itself keep mom and dad dry at bath time.

Domenick Yazzolinos Return From Canadian Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Domenick L. Yazzolino have returned from a wedding trip to Canada following their marriage on Nov. 4 at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael. They are living in San Anselmo.

The bridge is the former Laurie E. Marincik, daughter of Mrs. Jane Williams of Petaluma and the late Stanley Marincik. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Jenny Lively of San Bruno.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sue Daly of San Rafael, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Donna Olney of Walnut Creek, Mrs. Vicki Cowman of Fairfax and Mrs. Cookie Romero of San Francisco.

Dave Heikka of Danville was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Dave Romero, Rusty Varni, Mike Cooper, Joe Virgil, Rich Tomassini and Don Corempus, all of San Francisco.

A reception at the San Rafael Improvement Club followed the ceremony.

Laurie is the sister of Stan Marincik of San Rafael, who gave her in marriage. She is a graduate of San Rafael High School and is employed by the Carousel Beauty Salon in San Anselmo.

A graduate of Mission High School, the bridegroom is with the San Francisco Sheriff's Department.

The two-piece shirtdress may well be the best of both fashion worlds. It combines the freedom of separates with the uncontrived, fresh look of a dress.

Electric Brooms Boon To Housewife

The variety of lightweight electric brooms on the market are a real boon for quick sweep-ups, especially on the indoor-outdoor types of carpeting becoming so popular for kitchen areas.

Because these appliances often come in contact with moist food particles that tend to stick and harden, it is a good idea to up-end the broom and clean the bottom section carefully — including the brush — with thick soap or detergent suds

'GOOD PLACE TO SHOP'

New Look At A Pawnshop

By MARY LEYDECKER

"Pawnshop."

The very word conjures up visions of a stoop-shouldered old man who sits unsmiling behind a cage in a dingy, dark store filled with possessions lost by hapless souls.

But John Bain, manager of San Rafael's only such business, is far from the old stereotype of the pawnbroker.

Further, the San Rafael Loan Co. is brightly lighted, a radio is playing cheerfully and carefully polished merchandise, not all of it used, is neatly displayed.

"I want this to be known as a good place to shop," Bain, the blue-eyed, blond son of a Scottish minister, said with a smile. "The pawnshop provides a service to the community, but some people don't want to accept this."

The pawnshop is an ancient institution, dating back 2,000 to 3,000 years in China. During the Middle Ages and later, Christian countries, bound by church laws against usury, sometimes set up publicly run pawnshops for the temporarily penniless.

Today's customers are much the same, according to Bain — they are mainly Marin people with incomes but who face temporary shortages and need relatively small amounts of cash in a hurry.

A grizzled-looking workingman, short a few dollars until payday, holds out his suede jacket. "You gave me $10 last time," he said.

"Okay, give him 10 again," Bain told his employee.

The chances that the man will pay back the $10 plus the interest (which will be $1 for the first 30 days) are 84 per cent, Bain said.

Only 16 per cent of the goods pawned at the shop go unclaimed and thus are put on sale after the owner has been notified by registered mail that six months, 10 days have passed and he has not redeemed his property.

For the man who comes into the shop, Bain said, the problem is sometimes one stemming from money lost in a gambling spree or spent on a girlfriend.

With the women, the story is varied, according to Bain, who has been in the business about 10 years. They show up to pawn such articles as jewelry often have overspent their household allowances, perhaps on new clothes, and don't want their husbands to know.

PAWN BROKER — John Bain leans on the counter of his pawnshop, surrounded by the varied merchandise that awaits either redemption by owners, or sale by Bain. He is the only such shop in San Rafael and provides a source of small amounts of quick cash for the temporarily financially embarrassed.

The same articles that are high in consumer demand are t he ones which show up in the pawnshop. Today's display is heavy with guitars and stereo equipment along with jewelry, cameras, tape recorders, guns and power tools.

However, there are a few not-so-usual items — Bain pulled out a strange object which turned out to be a centuries-old "emasculator," a metal device which looked as if it would be diabolically effective.

Members of the many rock groups headquartered in Marin are among Bain's customers, he said — some come to buy the expensive musical instruments on display, and some come to pawn them, depending on their current fortunes.

Bain supplements his display of unredeemed pawned articles with merchandise bought from wholesalers, sometimes from bankruptcy sales.

His customers include "many professional people," he said, like one Sonoma County lawyer who had met Bain in a court case and called to ask if the pawnbroker had any good buys in tape recorders.

The court cases are something Bain recognizes as one of the risks of the business. He knows that many of the articles offered him for pawn are stolen. He tries to prevent acceptance of stolen property through several means.

First, a sign in the store announces firmly that only persons over 21 years old with identification may pawn merchandise. Bain said he realizes state law now allows 18-year-olds to make contracts but he believes many burglaries in the county are committed by 18-to-21-year-olds.

Second, under a San Rafael ordinance, he furnishes the police department with copies of the description and serial numbers, if they exist, of every pawned object.

"Probably only about 1.5 per cent" of the merchandise that goes through the shop turns out to be stolen, according to Inspector Richard Douglas of the San Rafael police. If an article does turn out to be stolen and if it is returned to its rightful owner, Bain stands a good chance of losing any money he has advanced to the pawner, according to Douglas.

To avoid such a risk, Bain follows another practice. Posted in a spot in the shop where only employees can see it is a "black list" headed "no loans." Beside some names is written the phrase, "police holds" or other phrases indicating a record of trouble with authorities.

As for the San Rafael police, Bain indicated respect and confidence and said, "there's no payola here" like in some bigger cities.

Although Bain would be the first to admit that many of his customers are not lily white in their private lives, he makes a practice of talking and listening to them. But he won't tolerate drunks in the store.

Bain said only once did he encounter serious trouble. Three young men who appeared to be "high on speed or something" started to come across the counter toward him, then fled when he grabbed a gun.

Bain, who once was in the bail bond business, sometimes pays good Samaritan visits to people in the county jail or at a facility for alcoholics in Sonoma County, where he lives. He also works with a 4-H group on his sheep ranch in Sonoma. "These are just personal things with me," he said.

There is no question that the interest is high in pawn shops, but it is regulated by state law and the rates posted. Until such time as the economy provides perfectly for everyone and people all exhibit providence in their spending habits, the old song, "There's a pawnshop on the corner . . . and I've just got to get five or 10," will continue to be a familiar theme.

Even in Marin.

Clue Search Continues In Slaying

Investigators looking into the murder of a young Swedish mother in Point San Pedro continued today to comb the neighborhood in a search for clues, a fruitless search so far.

Lt. James Schwedhelm of the sheriff's department said "every available man is out on the street talking to neighbors" in an attempt to unravel the mystery slaying of Nina Fischer, 31.

Mrs. Fischer, wife of Swedish corporation executive Gunnar Fischer, was found bound, gagged and shot through the back and head in the couple's house Thursday.

Investigators said they are unsure if she was raped and that while there are "pretty good indications" she was, that won't be known for sure until a pathology report is completed. He said he does not know when that will be.

One possible clue still missing is Mrs. Fischer's purse. Although this could point to robbery as a possible motive, Schwedhelm said the handbag contained less than $30.

Purse Snatcher Hits At 7 p.m.

A purse snatcher grabbed a woman's purse containing $95 last night in the parking lot of Sabella's restaurant in Mill Valley, police said.

According to Mill Valley police, Florence Newberry of 102 Nelson Avenue, Mill Valley, and Margaret Lascy of Belvedere Drive, Strawberry, were walking from the lot to the restaurant about 7 p.m. when a man ran up from behind knocking them down and taking Mrs. Newberry's purse.

The man described as in his 20s then ran north on foot.

Mrs. Newberry, 78, was treated for a broken wrist and released at Marin General Hospital.

BAND HONORS ARE GRABBED BY PETALUMA

Petaluma High School's band took top honors Saturday at the fourth annual Redwood Empire stage band festival at Sonoma State College.

The band won first place in the division for schools of its size.

John Elkjer, a student from Terra Linda High School, was honored as best arranger and Andy Maxwell, a Petaluma High School student, won honorable mention for his playing.

Architect Named For Boyd House

The San Rafael City Council Saturday selected architect Milton W. Chambers of San Rafael to draw plans and cost estimates for restoration of Boyd House, headquarters of the Marin Historical Society.

The council also said the society may continue to use the structure as its headquarters if county supervisors agree to share an estimated $50,000 tab for restoring the building to period condition, according to City Mgr. William J. Bielser.

In addition, councilmen decided that the building at the corner of Mission Avenue and B Street will not be relocated, a possibility considered previously, Bielser said.

No fee for Chambers' work was set. Other applicants for the job were Whisler Patri and the firm of Phillips-Finisy.

Lights Will Be Doused On Bridge

The strand of yellow lights across the Golden Gate Bridge will lose half its brilliance as of tonight in a move to save energy.

All of the high pressure sodium vapor lights may be turned back on during stormy weather and peak winter evening commuter traffic, but not until proved necessary, reported acting bridge manager Robert A. Warren of Novato.

There are 136 lights on the bridge, so 68 will be doused.

Flare Dropped Into Mailbox

A lighted flare was dropped into a U.S. Postal Service mailbox at Grand and Mission avenues yesterday, firemen reported.

The fire at 8 a.m. slightly damaged only one piece of mail, according to investigators at the San Rafael Post Office.

Bay Area Carpenters Staying Off Jobs

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Carpenters on many Bay Area construction projects stayed away from work today despite a federal court order that they continue working until a hearing is held on the union pay dispute Nov. 26.

John Watts, executive secretary of the union's district council, said only a few projects are under way in Marin anyway, but he would give no specifics as to whether any of them were shut down today.

The Associated General Contractors of Northern California on Friday won a court order from U. S. District Judge Albert C. Wollenberg, ordering the carpenters to continue working.

Robert Mounce, spokesman for the contractors, said the walkouts affected $200 million in construction projects. Carl Brown, director of the Building Industry Association, called the labor stoppage an "unsanctioned, wildcat sort of thing."

David Greenlee, director of the Marin County Builders Exchange, said he'd heard that union officials were visiting business sites today urging members not to work.

Watts said the dispute is over a 3-year-old contract under which the carpenters were due a 65-cent hourly raise last June 16. The Construction Industry Stabilization Committee ordered the raise limited to 15 cents, and the union has filed suit against the pay board.

Arson Suspected In School Fire

A fire, apparently set, destroyed seven student lockers and about 24 square feet of wooden wall at Hill Junior High School yesterday, according to Novato firemen.

The alarm was sounded at 4:19 p.m.

Firemen estimated the damage at $700 to $1,00. The cause is still under investigation.

Tunney Hears Bridge District Suffering From Fuel Shortage

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Federal fuel allocations and rising cost of fuels are causing a double pinch for the Golden Gate Bridge District.

That was the message Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., received Saturday from bridge district representatives at the afternoon-long meeting on the energy crisis with transit, agriculture and trucking industry representatives was held at bridge district headquarters.

Stephen C. Leonoudakis, district board president, told Tunney federal fuel allocations limiting transit districts to 1972 supplies is causing increasing monthly deficits for the district.

Leonoudakis said the district will need 122,500 gallons of fuel for buses next month but the federal allocation will allow the district only 106,150 gallons. The January requirement is estimated at 127,210 gallons with only a 100,900 gallon allocation.

The December requirement for the district's Sausalito to San Francisco ferryboat is 17,000 gallons but the federal allocation is only 16,000, the president said.

"If the Office of Oil and Gas is permitted to stick by these decisions, we will have to initiate substantial service cuts on weekends on the ferryboat and, during non-peak periods on weekdays, in the buses," Leonoudakis noted in a prepared statement he gave to Tunney.

Leonoudakis said that while the district's last bid from fuel suppliers was 11 cents per gallon, future supplies on a month-to-month basis are quoted at 23 cents per gallon.

Added bus riders, if gas rationing takes place, will also cause added burdens, he said.

Leonoudakis called for federally imposed price controls on fuels to ease the district's burden. He said alternatives are the collapse of some transit systems or increased local tax loads.

Tunney received similar industry pictures of gloom from trucking and agricultural representatives.

The senator offered transit representatives some reason for hope in calling for use of federal highway trust funds by local transit districts. These funds could be used for purchase of vehicles, operation and maintenance expenses, construction of special bus lanes and parking lots near bus terminals.

Tunney said the funds could be used to subsidize transit losses in operation and maintenance.

The senator said an amendment he sponsored to the Energy Emergency Act calls for use of highway trust funds by transportation districts was to be considered by the Senate today.

"This crisis is not something that has been manufactured," Tunney told reporters before the meeting. He predicted the fuel crisis will last two to three years.

He foresees rationing of fuels shortly after the first of the year and said he would oppose taxing fuels as a means to control consumption because such a tax would have greatest impact on poor and middle-income consumers.

Petaluma Man Is Killed In Early Morning Crash

A Petaluma man was killed and two others injured in an accident at 2 a.m. today on Petaluma Boulevard North near Bailey Avenue.

Carroll Clifford Bell, 49, of 1941 Old Adobe Road, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hillcrest Hospital.

The Sonoma County Coroner's office said he was a passenger in a car driven by his son, Clark C. Bell, 21, a sailor serving aboard the carrier Ranger. The California Highway Patrol said the car struck a tree on the center divider strip.

Bell was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a broken left arm, broken left leg and broken jaw and was transferred in satisfactory condition to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. Another passenger, David Huffer, 19, also stationed aboard the Ranger, suffered possible neck and back injuries and was transferred to the naval hospital in good con-

[illegible] also survived by another son, Rodney Bell of Emeryville.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Development Of Downtown On Tap

A special meeting to discuss the proposed Tiburon downtown development plan will be held by the Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Belvedere City Hall.

Diana J. Bradley, publicist for the committee, said that James Mitchell of Tiburon, a member of the committee for downtown plan review, will speak. The committee for downtown plan review opposes the plans of the development firm Sequoia Pacific to build on 36 acres of downtown Tiburon owned by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Parking Garage On City Agenda

A proposal for a two-story parking garage featuring rooftop tennis courts and a playground will be discussed by the Mill Valley City Council today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The Mill Valley Business Assistance Committee is asking the city to finance a feasibility study for the garage which could house 200 cars.

The council also will discuss location of the new public safety building.

Also to be considered are the financing and route of the proposed extension of Sycamore Avenue from the Camino Alto area to Shelter Ridge to serve the new building.

What better Way To Say "Thank You"?

To our many thousands of loyal, friendly customers who have honored us by their patronage since we opened our doors on November 15th, 1952. We show our appreciation to these folks who have made it possible for us to grow and expand our selection of shoes year after year.

We are THANKFUL to the many hundreds of organizations who have expressed their appreciation of our support, both financial and physical, of their activities over many years and pledge our continuation of these contributions.

We are THANKFUL to the great number of customers who have expressed their gratitude for unusual services performed by our talented employees. Our files contain many testimonies such as "and it is refreshing to do business with Chapman's because you are truly interested in your customers" or "over the years we have been treated as treasured customers by our firm." We do treasure our customers and we are EXTREMELY proud of these expressions.

We are THANKFUL to the large number of manufacturers of nationally known shoe brands who have supplied us with quality products for the past 21 years. Brands we have been proud to offer to our friends in Marin. We are happy to be associated with famous names like Florsheim, Naturalizer, Life Stride, Clinic, Penaljo, Lazy Bones, Buster Brown, Roblee, Pedwin, Evans, Keds and many, many others!

We are THANKFUL most of all to our faithful, sincere, dedicated, loyal and hardworking employees. Without people like TED GORDON, GEORGE MEZZERA, SHARAN SIMKINS, MARY HIRSHBUHL, OLGA KEELER, STEVE GERAGHTY and TOM HANCOCK we would be just "another shoe store." THEY make the difference.

Chapman's SHOES

Why Are White House Tapes So Important?

Are the White House tapes really so important? Some people are asking whether these tape recordings are important enough that there should be consideration of impeaching the president because of them.

The answer is that the tapes may not be important at all. That depends on what they recorded — and, in view of the latest reports, on whether it was recorded well enough to decipher.

What is important is whether the White House — the president and those around him — are assisting an investigation of lawlessness in this "nation of laws" or whether they have been and are impeding such an investigation.

LET'S LOOK at the record.

Last March, when the Senate Judiciary Committee considered subpoenaing some White House personnel for the confirmation hearing of L. Patrick Gray as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, President Nixon declared no member or former member of the White House staff would be permitted to testify before any congressional committee. He based this on "executive privilege."

When the Senate Watergate committee talked of subpoenaing White House personnel, the president reiterated this stand. But then he suggested that his aides might confer informally and in private — and not under oath — with the committee. Of course, the senators rejected that. The following month, Mr. Nixon abandoned his stand, although still insisting that "executive privilege" prevented testimony about some matters.

On May 1, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., introduced a resolution for appointment of an independent Watergate prosecutor. A week later, the White House announced the Justice Department would name a special prosecutor, and gave assurance he would have "a totally free hand."

EXISTENCE OF TAPE recordings of White House conversations came to light in testimony on July 17 by Alexander P. Butterfield. Both the special prosecutor, Archibald Cox, and the Senate committee immediately wanted to see the tapes. President Nixon refused.

In mid-August, both Cox and the Senate committee sued to force release of the tapes. On Aug. 29, Judge John J. Sirica ruled they must be released to him for use by the special prosecutor and grand jury. The White House appealed the order. It was upheld on Oct. 12 by the appeals court.

On Oct. 20, Mr. Nixon proposed a "compromise." He would let Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., listen to the tapes and report what was on them. Cox and the Senate committee both rejected that.

Two days later, Mr. Nixon had the special prosecutor fired, losing his attorney general and assistant attorney general by resignation in the process.

The next day, impeachment investigation was started in the House. Immediately, the president reversed his stand and agreed to give the tapes to Judge Sirica.

BUT ON NOV. 1, it was disclosed that two key tapes had vanished. Testimony by Secret Service agent Raymond C. Zumwalt indicated one of them might have been taken from the safe where they were held on White House orders — or possibly not returned by H. R. Haldeman after he had it out earlier. But the White House insisted the two tapes simply did not exist, that the key conversations had never been recorded.

And a week later, the president's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, testified that all the recordings were so bad, anyhow, that they were almost impossible to decipher.

This is a very brief resume of the "tale of the tapes." We leave it to the reader whether it indicates White House cooperation or obstruction in an investigation of criminality in this "nation of laws."

Energy Crunch No Surprise — Except To High Decision Makers

WASHINGTON — The only Americans who can possibly be taken by surprise by the newly christened energy crisis are those who haven't been paying attention. There are a lot of them. They run from our maximum leader to the least of us.

For years past, scientists, environmentalists and a few lonely politicians have been predicting the dark day when the crunch arrives. Even the energy companies themsleves started trumpeting doomsday — preventable, in their version, by removing taxes, deregulating prices, building more refineries, and using more of whatever each company was selling. But at least they deserve credit for stating the situation before it was full upon us.

IT IS UNDERSTANDABLE, perhaps, that a Republican administration went so long unmoved by alarms from scientists, like those urging heavier investment in nuclear energy development long before Mr. Nixon was sworn in. Unlikely that it would heed what I, as only one, have been writing about it for more than five years. Unheard of that it would give any credence to those pesky environmentalists, the ones who were at it long before the environment's existence was publicly proclaimed on Earth Day, 1970.

But what about the Republican chairman of your own Federal Power Commission? That gentleman, John N. Nassikas, was talking of the fossil fuel shortage as "the most acute phase of our developing energy crisis" as long ago as the summer of 1970.

What about the Chase Manhattan Bank? Its officials were declaring — also in 1970 — that "never before in peacetime have we faced such serious and widespread shortages of energy."

If not Time or Newsweek, what then about U.S. News and World Report? It discerned trouble three years and two months ago.

ADMITTEDLY, IT IS NOT quite accurate to say that Mr. Nixon just stumbled across this situation when the Arabs shut the oil tap last month. As he was very careful to note in his latest energy message, he "called attention" to energy more than two years ago. But nobody noticed then, because he did it in such gentle and unhurried terms. His emphasis then was not on any potential shortage, but on expanding clean energy sources. He also said a kind work for increased fuel and power prices and concluded: "I am confident that we can therefore continue to know the blessings of both a high-energy civilization and a beautiful environment."

Since then, reality has approached with all deliberate speed and bumped up against him. Finally, he has made a serious plea that we lower the rate of consumption in this high-energy civilization — and yet has striven to retain the goodwill of the energy companies by saying serious pollution controls will have to wait awhile longer.

After others have been urging it for many months, he finally has picked up the analogy that this situation bears to the Manhattan Project that created the first atomic bomb and the Apollo program that sent Americans to the moon. True to the advertising men who live yet in his White House, he has tied the title "Project Independence" to a new national effort to create advanced energy sources.

Yet what is lacking even at this late date is a positive attitude toward these actions. Cutting back and shifting to alternate sources are not being undertaken because they are good things in themselves; there is no effort to concentrate the changes toward nonpolluting sources, ones that minimize the destruction of our land.

ON THE CONTRARY, the president made it clear that we are doing these things only because we have to; he gave less than token notice to truly new energy sources, emphasizing that research money will be spent on new places to find and ways to use old sources, such as coal and oil. The concept of recycling materials, at great saving in energy, was not even mentioned.

The opportunity is there, now that the public is paying attention, to point the country toward long-term expansion of clean, nondestructive energy, and toward using our finite resources over and over. One suspicion in these cynical times is that the president has passed up that opportunity because the advocates of solar heating, geothermal energy, manure-methane conversion and other advanced techniques — unlike the officers of Gulf, Ashland and some other oil companies — failed to ante up corporate contributions to his campaign last year. The charitable view is that he simply cannot see so far ahead.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Teathered Goat Becomes Prey Of Dogs Roaming At Large

Today our little goat was taken to Tamalpais hospital, and at this writing is in critical condition.

Michelle, who is a sixth grader at Del Mar School, has a dream. That of our day, becoming a veterinarian. Her love of animals and her continuing request for a horse led us to a compromise, a goat. Our grounds did not have the required space for a larger animal but our hillside was ideal for a little goat and so, Joker, who arrived at age one week, has become a member of our family.

He has been with us for eight months now. His wonderful, fun-loving personality and all of his crazy antics have quite won a place in the heart of everyone in the area.

Michelle had been making plans to start a 4-H Club in the area . . . She planned to enter her goat.

When Michelle left for school this morning, she fed Joker and put him on his tether as she does each day. This way he has the freedom of his pen and house.

An hour later, two black German shepherd dogs appeared on the scene and began their grisly and vicious attack on Joker. They cut off his return to the security of his pen and when he reached the end of the tether they began to tear away his skin.

A neighbor heard his cries of pain and she approached the scene of the mauling, using any and all weapons available.

Why? we asked the police. Why, we asked the Humane Society, was our little animal put through all of his pain and suffering? We have always followed the rules and obeyed the laws which govern pet care and pet responsibility. Why must this little animal and this family suffer such a useless tragedy because others do not obey the same rules?

Child's Earache Proves Very Costly

Hurray for socialized medicine! May it come soon. . .

In this country where modern medical aid is readily available, the expense is rapidly denying it to the middle income family.

Last Saturday night my 3-year-old awakened at 8 p.m. with an earache. Our pediatrician was not on call, but his associate was treating a patient at Marin General so we met there. The hospital charged $11 for the use of the examining room plus $2 for a shot. The pediatrician charged $19 for a five-minute examination, plus another $9 to my regular pediatrician for a follow-up exam in the office. Plus an $8 prescription. Total cost — $39. Ten dollars more than my total weekly food budget allows. Incredible!

At the bottom of each bill was a reminder that full payment was due within 10 days.

I am well aware that most mothers save prescriptions from illness to illness and often treat and prescribe for their children hoping to avoid a trip to the doctor. Yes, we deny our children the best medical care available because it is priced out of reach of our families.

Can the medical profession in good conscience continue to price their services so high? Isn't it time we had an alternative to this robbery? Does anyone care?

After Measure E Defeat, What Next?

Beneath the polarization of people and opinion surrounding Measure E, some very good things have been happening in Marin!

The real issues for Marin's future have come into focus. The crucial short and long-range problems of land use and water resource planning are more clearly before us than ever before. And, it seems to me, the consciousness-raising process of the campaign period has produced a consensus about some unfinished business in Marin that goes far beyond this particular MMWD bond issue.

Before us now is an impressive and awesome "things-to-do" list, and I think, a broadly based community resolve to move forward rapidly to the tasks at hand:

(1.) How can Marin augment its water supply without: Either causing the unacceptable environmental disruption to our own county of damming Walker Creek and diverting fresh water from Tomales Bay; or, causing unacceptable environmental disruption to neighboring counties by adding (directly or indirectly) to the need for yet another dam (Warm Springs) on the Russian River?

(2.) How can we in Marin close the gap between: Continuing reliance on the costly (economically and environmentally) damming and diverting of our last remaining free-flowing streams (whether they be in Sonoma, Marin or Mendocino); and achieving a "new" water supply through water conservation and wastewater reclamation?

(3.) How can we in Marin — the County and the 11 cities — find and adopt the legal tools and politically acceptable mechanisms needed to implement the controlled-growth policies of the county-wide plan. . .

(4.) How can Marin and Sonoma Counties — whose futures inevitably are linked by geography — begin to coordinate land use (and water resource) planning so that we don't continue to impact each other negatively by parochial, compartmentalized planning decisions?

(5.) How can Marin help bring into being a representative regional mechanism to control the protection and management of the Russian River Basin?. . .

After Measure E, the real question is not — "Where do we go from here?". . .

Giving Dual Role To Jaworski May Resolve Rift Over Prosecutor

A compromise on special prosecutor? Both the Senate and House judiciary committees are considering a way to strengthen the independence of the special Watergate prosecutor without adding further delay to the prosecution.

The plan is for Congress to empower the federal judiciary to name Leon Jaworski the court's as well as the president's special prosecutor in Watergate matters. This would give Mr. Nixon the man he has named to succeed Archibald Cox but insure that he could not be removed without the approval of the court.

RUSSIA AND THE FRUITS OF DETENTE. The Soviet Union chose to serve the cause of detente with the United States by helping to bring about the cease-fire in the Arab-Israeli fighting. Now the Russians are appearing to have second thoughts.

They are casting doubts on the value of the shoring up of the truce agreement which Sec. of State Henry Kissinger has negotiated directly with the Arabs and Israelis, and they don't seem to like the improved relations between the United States and Egypt. Perhaps they fear that peace in the Middle East will mean the expulsion of Soviet influence in the Middle East.

An Arab-Israeli settlement is what the United States wants. It now remains to be seen whether it is what Moscow wants.

CAN NIXON STICK IT OUT? Most politicians agree that the state of public opinion will determine what happens. Since the president is not going to resign, the only recourse for those who hoped he would resign is to try impeachment.

The advocates of impeachment cite the fact that the percentage of voters who find President Nixon doing his job satisfactorily has sunk to a small minority, according to polls.

But what is often overlooked is that voters who do not think Mr. Nixon is doing a good job do not want him to quit and do not want him impeached. Fifty-four per cent in a recent Gallup poll said no to impeachment and resignation.

IS THIS ATTITUDE INCONSISTENT? If a decisive majority of the people feel the president is not handling his job well, why shouldn't they be calling for his resignation or his impeachment?

The fact that they aren't doesn't prove inconsistency. It simply proves that most Americans would rather have Mr. Nixon as president than any attainable alternative.

This public opinion may also rest on the feeling that Richard Nixon will succeed in lifting himself out of his present unpopularity. During the Justice Department tax scandals, when Harry Truman fired his attorney general, his prestige dropped even lower than Mr. Nixon's, and he came back to win the presidency a year later.

WHY IS AFL-CIO LOBBYING FOR IMPEACHMENT? Advocating impeachment is understandable. Lobbying for it is a highly dangerous tactic. President Meany is going much farther than the most ardent Democratic opponents of the president. His office is sending petitions to labor unions across the country seeking to drum up the demand to get President Nixon out.

It is already weakening the cause of impeachment by turning it into a partisan drive, and this is the one thing the congressional Democrats hoped to avoid.

Meany is aiming to get back into the top councils of the Democratic Party after he rejected George McGovern in 1972. The union leaders may be ready to follow Meany. Whether labor rank-and-file will do so is questionable.

Bridge Directors Afraid To Meet With Employee Group In Public

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors are so nervous about a new employees association that they did not give public notice of their first meeting with the association two weeks ago.

Management consultants found staff morale was poor last year because of autocratic rule by district brass, so the directors understandably were edgy when the employees requested a meeting with them. The association's pleas were modest, but the secrecy with which they were handled suggested some weighty matters were at issue.

All they wanted was use of the board room for meetings, use of interoffice mail and communications and use — with payment for cost — of district printing and duplicating equipment. The association's fears about the possible consequences of making their requests were evident in their letter to the top administrator, D.J. Callaghan: "We approach these discussions in good faith and with an attitude of cooperation, hopeful that mutually agreeable accommodations can be found."

AS IT TURNED OUT, directors attending the unannounced session endorsed the proposals, which won full board last week. The state's antisecret meeting law, however, requires deliberations as well as actions by public boards to be public.

Director Joseph P. Bort, an Alameda County supervisor, insisted the meeting was not "official," thus not covered by the law. Callaghan's own letter, notifying the association of the meeting, however, said "Chairman Bort of the personnel committee and other board members" would attend. Sounds like a meeting to us.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. also was there.

Copies of letters between Callaghan and the association, incidentally, were distributed at last week's regular executive committee session, but only to directors. Newsmen carefully were bypassed.

Someone apparently sensed there was something to hide.

JUDY AINSWORTH, aide to Marin County Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, is rounding up support for a race next April for San Anselmo City Council. Asked if she were interested in working her way up the electoral ladder to the county board of supervisors, she replied after a long pause, "I don't know."

That was not exactly a disavowal of political ambition.

Excesses Of Environmentalists Lead To Swing Of Pendulum

(Reprinted from San Juan Record)

It is tragic that environmentalists are now in real danger of losing many of their gains because of the excessive zeal of some of their more extreme associates.

In their great concern over the fate of the salamander, many environmentalists have completely forgotten that people, too, are an "endangered species." In their zeal to protect property from misuse, they have thoughtlessly trampled on the rights of others to use their property at all.

Those who have struggled so long to become "affluent" arrive at that happy state only to find there is nothing to be affluent with. Everywhere there are shortages. Everywhere there are "no-growth" policies. The state of Oregon says "visit but don't stay."

Inevitably there must be a reaction. Throughout the state, organizations have been quietly forming to fight environmental excesses.

What is particularly interesting is that both big labor and big businesses are joining in this coalition. They may find more support from thousands of frustrated consumers who are finding it more and more difficult to enjoy their prosperity.

This kind of action might have come sooner except that many leaders of both business and labor are themselves concerned with the environmental problem. They have tolerated and accepted restrictions on their freedoms that would have been unthinkable 20 to 30 years ago.

But finally, there comes a point. And, it seems that point has now been reached.

"This could be the drip heard 'round the world'."

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 19, 1963

Twenty-five persons died when fire swept a home for the aged in Atlantic City, N.J.

Lincoln M. Borba was promoted to lieutenant and James W. Carlton to sergeant on the San Rafael police force.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 19, 1953

William H. Thomas, proposed by Gov. Goodwin Knight for appointment to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, declined the offer and the governor appointed Walter R. Castro in his stead.

The California Highway Commission allotted $3 million for reconstruction of the Richardson Bay Bridge as a six-lane span.

Roumiguiere Wants To Put History Museum In Civic Center

The Marin County Historical Society museum, faced with moving out of the Boyd House in San Rafael, may eventually move to Civic Center.

That, at least, is what Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere would like to see happen, and he's now cranking up the political machinery to bring it about.

As he sees it, vacant space on the top floor of the Hall of Justice, much of which is unfinished and is being saved for future expansion of offices, would be an ideal location for the museum.

One 5,000-square-foot section is directly across from the cafeteria. If used for the county's major historical museum, this would give it far more public exposure than it now enjoys.

BESIDES SOLVING the immediate problem of finding a home for the museum, it would also encourage donors to part with their treasures.

Currently, Roumiguiere said, some who hold items of historical interest refuse to have them displayed at the Boyd house for fear of fire.

The City of San Rafael, which owns the Boyd house, has asked the historical society to vacate the old Victorian so it can be remodeled, and possibly relocated, to provide office space for city workers.

The only problem with the Civic Center location is that it will cost about $125,000 to complete the vacant area with finished floors, drop ceilings and electrical facilities.

Roumiguiere is talking of a fund-raising drive to help defray county costs, but it's obvious that if his plan is to succeed it will depend on the generosity of his colleagues on the board.

ELSEWHERE AROUND Civic Center, it used to be common practice for the status of the county's roller coaster reserve fund to be printed on the weekly agenda for the board of supervisors.

The purpose was to keep everyone abreast of how much "free money" was in the county treasury and how it was being spent for previously unbudgeted items.

It hasn't been there for the last couple months, however. County Administrator, John F. Barrows feels it's unnecessary.

According to Barrows, it was placed on the agenda some years ago at the request of former Supervisor Louis H. Baar.

With Baar no longer on the board, the county administrator said, it seems unnecessary to clutter up the agenda with reserve fund figures.

Nice try, but I can't help wondering if the reserve fund's rapid downhill slide from $140,000 in July to $37,000 this month didn't have something to do with it.

Another infusion of dollars is expected shortly when unexpected payroll dollars — saved from vacant county positions — are pumped in by the board of supervisors.

Chiefs To Serve Holiday Coffee

HOOKSETT, N.H. (UPI) — The New Hampshire Association of Chiefs of Police is so concerned about the dangers of nonstop holiday driving that they have decided to serve coffee and cookies at a Thanksgiving "rest break."

Six of the chiefs in uniform will play host and waiter to all motorists who want free coffee, cocoa, doughnuts and cookies at a toll booth just south of Concord on interstate highway 93 Wednesday evening.

Record Prices Didn't Help Food Processors' Profits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Record food prices for consumers didn't produce profit gains for the food processing and retailing industries through the first half of this year, an Agriculture Department report indicates.

The report estimated that for all of 1973, the cost of marketing foods produced on American farms may reach $83 billion. This would be 8 per cent above 1972 compared with an average annual increase of 5.2 per cent during the past decade.

Other data in the report indicated that for the first half of 1973, at least, the increased marketing charges levied by processors and retailers were going into higher wages and other operating costs rather than higher profits.

The report said after-tax profits for corporations processing and manufacturing foods averaged 2.4 per cent in the second quarter this year, slightly less than a year earlier. In contrast, profits for all manufacturing industries in the same quarter were 5.1 per cent compared with 4.5 per cent a year earlier.

According to the report, after-tax profits as a percentage of sales for bakery corporations were 1.3 per cent in the first half of 1973 compared with 2.4 per cent a year earlier. Meat packer profits were 0.95 per cent in the first half compared with 0.90 per cent a year earlier. Dairy firms showed a slight decline, but textile mills boosted first-half profits to 3.1 per cent compared with 2.4 per cent a year earlier.

Food retailing profits dipped in the first six months of 1973, the report said. After-tax profits for 15 leading chains averaged 0.55 per cent of sales compared with 0.75 per cent a year earlier and 0.45 per cent in the last half of 1972.

Ranch Felon Walks Away

A San Quentin convict escaped from the prison last night by walking away from the ranch minimum security area, according to prison officials.

Still missing today was Harvey K. Pipkin, 40, who was due for parole next June. He was serving a term for burglary from San Joaquin County.

William D. Nyberg, prison information officer, said Pipkin was missed at a count at 11:18 p.m.

Elusive Deer

This is the time of year that hunters pit their stalking skill against the evasive abilities of the whitetail deer. The deer have considerable resources, including acute senses of smell, hearing, and vision, as well as coloration that enables them to blend in with their surroundings. In one Michigan experiment, six veteran hunters were matched against seven bucks in a 1-square-mile enclosure. It was 4 whole days before a single buck was spotted! If flight becomes necessary, bucks may hit 40 miles per hour in a sprint. They can sustain speeds of 30 miles per hour for several miles. And they are strong swimmers, having been clocked at speeds as great as 13 miles per hour.

DO YOU KNOW — What color clothing do safety experts recommend for hunters?

OWN A RECREATIONAL PLAYGROUND

The Cheda Ranch Recreation Corporation (a non-profit Corporation), is now offering 100 exclusive memberships at beautiful Cheda Ranch. Less than an hour from San Francisco, the Cheda Ranch in Marvelous Marin, covers more than 900 wildlife-filled acres adjoining Samuel Taylor State Park.

A vast undeveloped playground carpeted with lush grass, wooded canyons, and a year-round creek that augments the natural beauty of the landscape. Ride or hike to the upper pastures and look down on Tomales Bay, the National Seashore lands and many scenes of captivating grace and beauty. Imagine being an exclusive member and owner of such a ranch as this! As you enter through the Cheda Ranch gates, you travel along a creek to the historic Cheda deer camp and picnic grounds. Here lush paths and trails lead to the east ridge adjoining the State Park. This section is indeed a horsemans' paradise. Ride through your own private ranch or the thousands of acres of State Park all the way to the National Seashore. Plan a leisurely weekend, swim in the new pool adjoining the new clubhouse or hike up to the middle canyon to explore or camp in the forest. Numerous campsites with parking and picnic tables are scattered throughout the ranch. Your own ranch foreman will be on hand to assist you and your family when you plan a day of riding. Horse lovers can board their horses all year round. Planned facilities will include private stalls in the main barn, tack room, hay barns and open pastures.

We have just scratched the surface of the recreation and pride of ownership that go with this one-of-a-kind recreational ranch.

Public Notice

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS MOVABLE PARTITIONS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation, and services required for construction of movable partitions at the Marin County Civic Center, Highway 101 and North San Pedro Road, Marin County, California.
2. Each bid shall be in accordance with the Drawings, Specifications and Contract Documents prepared therefor, now on file with the Director of Public Works, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center.
3. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the County of Marin, in accordance with regulations as set forth in "Instructions to Bidders," and shall be accompanied by certified check or bid bond, where required, as specificed in instructions to Bidders.
4. Bids shall be delivered to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, on or before 2:00 P.M., December 4, 1973, and will be opened and read publicly at that time.
5. The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids or unit prices, waive any irregularities in any bid and to contract work with whomever, and in whatever manner it may determine. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of 45 days after the date set for the opening thereof.
6. All bidders and Subcontractors shall be licensed at the time of bid date by the Contractor's State License Board of the State of California to perform the work herein described.
7. Where so indicated a bond will be required for the faithful performance of the Contract in an amount of not less than 100% of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than 50% of the bid.
8. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which work is to be performed, for each craft or type or workman or mechanic needed to execute this contract. The prevailing rates so determined are based on an 8-hour day, 40-hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreement between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.
9. WAGE SCALE
   Summary
   This section lists the minimum wages that may be paid on work on this project, in conformance with the Statutes of the State of California.
   SCHEDULE EXPLANATION
   a. The prevailing rates are based on the normal work week for each trade. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and Construction Industry Groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.
   b. Verification and further inquiries with respect to these rates and for classifications or trades not listed should be made at the Building and Trades Council, Marin County, California.
   c. The attention of the bidders is directed to the provisions of the specifications relative to labor.

CRUISING DOWN THE RIVER

Tom Walton, 22, of White Bear Lake, Minn., paddled into the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul Saturday on a kayak trip from northern Minnesota to the Gulf of Mexico. Walton plans to run the Mississippi River from its headwaters at Lake Itasca to New Orleans, which he hopes to reach in time to take in the Mardi Gras. Walton is raising money for the Easter Seal campaign by taking pledges for each mile of the trip.

Terrorists Drop Plan For Oakland Slayings

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A terrorist group which claims responsibility for the cyanide bullet slaying of Oakland's schools superintendent now says it has "rescinded" its "shoot on sight warrant" against other education leaders.

The "Symbionese Liberation Army" said in a letter received by the Oakland Tribune during the weekend that the shooting will stop because school officials are heeding the demands of the heretofore unknown group.

Dr. Marcus C. Foster was killed by three assailants Nov. 6 when he was hit eight times by pistol bullets packed with cyanide as he entered a car near the school district administration building.

Foster's chief deputy, Robert Blackburn, was wounded in the abdomen by a shotgun blast and is recovering following surgery.

The letter was the second received by the newspaper since the shootings. The first came the day after the attack and said the two men were targeted for "execution by cyanide bullets."

The latest letter said in part:

"It has come to the attention of the Symbionese Liberation Army and the court of the people that the fascist board of education has made an attempt to heed and respect the rights and wishes of the people by stating that they will not continue to take part in crimes committed against the children and the life of the people. Therefore, it is the decision of this court that the shoot on sight warrant issued Nov. 6, 1973, be rescinded."

The letter noted that the school district canceled a student identification card program for junior and senior high schools which was part of a police-on-campus program.

The letter also said that if the board of education "does attempt to disguise their intentions and at any time reinstates programs of political police forces in our schools" and other programs objected to "then the death warrant order is to be immediately reactivated without warning."

A $20,000 reward, half from the City of Oakland and half authorized by Gov. Ronald Reagan, has been posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers.

Actress Honored

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Martha Raye was presented Sunday with the Screen Actors Guild's award for "outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting prodession" for her 30 years of entertaining troops.

Second Chance In Drug Arrest

A Novato woman whose first drug arrest involved growing 425 marijuana plants has been given a second chance.

Susan Liane Michalski, 27, was placed on probation for a year by Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty Friday. She and David Ehreth, 23, were accused of growing the drug in a plot at 4 St. John's Court, Novato.

Ehreth, who pleaded guilty to felony marijuana possession, was sentenced Monday to 60 days in jail, but Superior Court Judge Charlie Read Best said Ehreth will be allowed to continue his pre-law studies.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Accidental Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Kills Many Yearly

Accidental carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning is common during the winter when doors and windows are closed and all types of heaters are in use. Approximately 1,300 persons will die this year from carbon monoxide and the majority from accidental causes that are so well known.

About 500 of these fatalities will occur while riding in vehicles that are defective, damaged, or of poor design. Sitting in a parked car with the motor running is a common offender.

It is well to remember that any internal combustion engine or faulty non-electrical heating unit produces carbon monoxide. Those who broil indoors with an outdoor grill, or run the car, motorcycle, snowmobile, or lawn mower in a closed garage are inviting trouble.

MORE SINISTER causes of CO poisoning occur at home when the furnace flue is plugged with soot, a bird builds a nest in the chimney, or an exhaust pipe on a heater is cracked. For these reasons, it is imperative to have all heating units checked periodically.

Carbon monoxide intoxication is one of our nation's most common environmental hazards. Automobiles and cigarette smokers are the two major producers of this gas. CO enters the body through the lungs and passes into the blood where it combines with the pigment hemoglobin that normally carries oxygen and gives blood its color. When blood is given a choice between carbon monoxide and oxygen, it invariably selects the former. Intoxication symptoms develop when the hemoglobin does not have enough oxygen to supply the needs of the heart, brain, eyes, nerves, and other tissues.

DIZZINESS, HEADACHE, and lassitude may ensue when 5 per cent of the oxygen in red cells is replaced by carbon monoxide. Many smokers have this level of CO in their blood and the amount multiplies when they go into a garage, travel on congested highways, stop at busy intersections, or when traffic is bumper to bumper.

As a rule, symptoms of intoxication are not marked until the CO level reaches 30 to 40 per cent. Coma and convulsions occur at 50 to 60 per cent, depending upon duration of exposure. If no more is inhaled, it takes four hours for half of the gas to leave the blood. Elimination can be speeded up 6 to 10 times when pure oxygen is inhaled.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

BREAKDOWNS

B.D.K. writes: Why do some persons have nervous breakdowns and others who are just as high-strung do not?

REPLY

Being high-strung has nothing to do with a person's ability to handle emotional stress. The individual who breaks down mentally is overwhelmed by a certain situation or experience and goes into a depression or escapes by crawling into a shell.

Whereas GERALD M. LANTRY and BETSY L. ESCHRICH have filed their petition with the clerk of this Court for permission to change their name from GERALD M. LANTRY and BETSY L. ESCHRICH to GERALD M. ESCHRICH-LANTRY and BETSY L. ESCHRICH-LANTRY; now therefore.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that all persons interested in the matter aforesaid appear at Dept. 1 on December 14, 1973 at 9:00 a.m. of said day, and then and there show cause, if any they have, why said application for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, published in Marin County, for four weeks.

Dated November 5, 1973

No. 1698 Nov. 12, 19, 26, Dec. 3, 1973

MARIN COUNTY
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., December 3, 1973, for:

County of Marin, Fire Department - Administration & Living Facility - Woodacre, California

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Civic Center, Room 315, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party upon request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

ORDINANCE NO. 2044
AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN AMENDING SECTION 2.88.030 OF THE MARIN COUNTY CODE PERTAINING TO MAP REPRODUCTION

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES HEREBY ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. Section 2.88.030 of the Marin County Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2.88.030 Reproduction. A basic service charge of fifty cents shall be made on each order for official maps. Reproduction charges per order shall be made as follows:

On the first one hundred maps: fifty cents each map.

On maps in excess of five hundred: twenty-five cents each map.

However, all governmental taxing agencies in the county which utilize the services of the county assessor shall, upon written request, receive one free copy of any official map covered by this chapter. Any additional copies of map pages may be obtained by said governmental taxing agencies at their cost to the assessor's office. The assessor shall compute the cost of the additional copies annually, using the cost of direct labor and material and equipment as the basis of his computation. (Ord. 1505 3 1; March 29, 1966; prior Ord. 923 S 3, October 1, 1957).

SECTION II. Effective date. This ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be in full force and effect as of thirty (30) days from and after the date of its passage and shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the Supervisors voting for and against the same in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, published in the County of Marin.

The foregoing Ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, held on the 13th day of November, 1973, by the following vote.

Pioneer Passes Jupiter Moons

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — The Pioneer 10 spacecraft has passed the tiny outer moons of the giant planet Jupiter and is picking up speed due to gravitational pull.

The picture-snapping satellite will reach the middle three of Jupiter's 12 moons on Thursday, and on Dec. 3 will reach its closest point, 81,000 miles from the blue and orange striped planet.

Its present speed of 22,000 miles per hour will zoom to over 80,000 mph, the fastest of any manmade object, when the spacecraft reaches the rendezvous point. It will then bypass Jupiter, which has twice the mass of all the other planets in the solar system combined, and continue into the void of space.

In Governor Race

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, D-S. C., chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee and a 25-year veteran on Capitol Hill,, announced today that he would run next year for governor of South Carolina.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Promptly Relieved

In many cases Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itching and actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation.

Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients showed this to be true in many cases. In fact, many doctors, themselves, use Preparation H® or recommend it for their families. Preparation H ointment or suppositories.

An Increase On Traffic Citations

The number of traffic citations issued by Corte Madera police in August, September and October was 91 per cent higher than for the same period last year.

Police chief David L. McIntosh will report to city councilmen tonight when they meet at 7:30 p.m. in town hall.

McIntosh attributes the increase to a new order of department priorities and councilmen will decide if those priorities should be maintained or changed.

Citations for both moving and parking violations increased from 274 during the three-month period last year to 524 this year. In department priorities, traffic enforcement was raised from fifth to second.

Youth Arrested In Slaying Case

ALAMEDA (UPI) — A 14-year-old student at the California School for the Deaf was arrested by police yesterday following the discovery of a teen-age baby sitter with a bullet wound in her chest.

The body of Beverly Jane Whitmore, 13, was found early yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dowen returned to their Alameda home where the victim was babysitting, police said. The Dowen children were uninjured.

Police said the girl had been shot in the chest with a .22-caliber weapon.

Deputy district attorney Anthony Gibbs said the suspect "was definitely at the Dowen house. He was there when the girl arrived."

Davis To Douse Christmas Lights

DAVIS (UPI) — For the first time in at least 22 years, the downtown Christmas lights here will not twinkle this year.

To help ease the energy shortage, the usual 3,200 lights —costing $800 to burn in a 45-day holiday period — have been eliminated. City officials also have urged homeowners and businesses to light Christmas trees only on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and to omit other display lights.

Reagan Selects New Press Aide

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has promoted Clyde Walthall to be his $32,256-a-year press secretary.

Walthall, 46, has been the governor's associate press secretary since March 1972. He replaces Edwin Gray, who resigned for a business job as Reagan's second and final gubernatorial term nears an end.

A one-time newsman and editorial writer, Walthall previously served as press secretary to former Republican Assembly Speaker Bob Monagan and as an official in the old Human Relations Agency.

Novato's 5th Straight Shutout Earns Bowl Spot

By LEW CODDINGTON

Saturday was an overcast, muddy, miserable day in Novato, but for the 43 young men on the Novato High School football team, it was the finest day of their lives.

The Hornet offense overcame the ankle-deep mud for two second-quarter touchdowns, and the defense held Terra Linda without a first down, as Novato waded through the slime for a 13-0 victory.

With the triumph came a 5-1 Marin County Athletic League record, a co-championship with Redwood, a spot in Friday's Top of the Bay Bowl against undefeated Petaluma, and a place in the record books with an awesome fifth consecutive shutout.

The proceedings at Novato were witnessed by about 1,000 brave, soaking fans, plus a persistent flock of sea gulls who repossessed the middle of the field whenever the play moved to one end.

"They (the Hornets) really showed a lot of courage by coming back from that opening loss," said head coach Al Scott. They were upset by Drake on Oct. 14, 20-14, but have not allowed any living soul inside their 18-yard-line since that day.

The five-game surge gave Novato a 7-3 overall record. Terra Linda finished 2-3-1 in the league and 4-5-1 overall — a rare losing season for the Trojans, who won six of the previous seven titles, including a co-championship last year.

The forward wall of Hal Jennings, Scott Johnson, Bob Clay, Mike Asciutto and Mike Martin, linebackers Ken Straw, Mark Doran and Jeff Mertell, and the secondary of Steve Hoog, Dave Brazell and Mike Heilman held Terra Linda to 19 yards on the ground and 10 through the air. The Trojans' total offense in the second half was one yard.

True, it was hard to move through the mitigating muck, but the Novato offense found a way in the first half. Quarterback Mike Moroski threw touchdown passes of 11 yards to Ken Ferrari and 40 yards to John Nissen, and had a 63-yard scoring strike to Nissen called back by a penalty.

"They came through when they had to," said Scott. The Hornets scored in double figures in every league game in a year dominated by defenses, and they did it despite a welter of problems, most notably the injuries to tackle Chris Meaney and fullback Mark Lipe. "They are both all-league calibre players," said Scott.

Tailback Mark Magers carried most of the load yesterday, rushing 24 times for 71 yards. Wayne Smith gained 45 yards in nine tries. They helped the Hornets to advantages of 7-0 in first downs and 128-28 in yardage in the decisive first half.

Novato drove 60 yards in 11 plays for the first score follwoing a fumble recovery by Johnson. A 15-yard Moroski pass to Nissen and a 10-yard personal foul penalty on Terra Linda were key plays. Ferrari took Moroski's scoring pass over the middle with 9:43 left in the half.

The next Novato drive began and ended with dramatic suddenness. On the second play, Moroski delicately lofted a play-action pass to Nissen, wide open on the right sideline, for the score.

49ers, Raiders In Throes Of Defeat

SANCTUARY — A flock of sea gulls, apparently unable to believe that any human beings would want to occupy Novato High School's muddy football field Saturday, kept returning to land whenever they could, as glum players from visiting Terra Linda watched. The gulls were witnesses to one of the most extraordinary feats in Marin County Athletic League history, as the Novato Hornets held Terra Linda to no first downs and posted their fifth consecutive shutout, a 13-0 victory which brought them the Marin County Athletic League co-championship and a spot in Friday's Top of the Bay Bowl against undefeated Petaluma.

Rams Oust S.F. From Flag Race

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Lox Angeles Rams have officially eliminated the San Francisco 49ers from a shot at their fourth straight National Football Conference West title.

More importantly, for the Rams, yesterday's 31-13 victory put Los Angeles a game and a half up on the Atlanta Falcons, who have the big task of beating the undefeated Minnesota Vikings on national TV at home tonight at 6 o'clock on Channel 7.

"I was very pleased with our overall effort," said Chuck Knox, the cautious first-year coach of the Rams, after his club's eighth win of the year in 10 starts.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the 49ers, whose record dropped to 3-7.

Incredibly, despite their three straight division crowns, the 49ers have lost seven in a row to the Rams.

Veteran John Hadl and fleet Harold Jackson connected for their 10th, 11th and 12th touchdown passes of the season, the last one a 57-yard bomb in the final quarter. The others were of 25 and 22 yards in the second period.

"They were double covering me," said Jackson, last year's leading receiver in the National Football League, "but double coverage is nothing new to me."

"Jackson rates right up at the top as far as the guys I've thrown to, including Lance Alworth," said Hadl, who now has 17 TD passes this season.

"They're alike in so many ways it's fantastic. They both have great hands, great speed and they're great competitors."

In a 29-7 win over New Orleans last weekend, the Rams didn't score in the first quarter and trailed 7-0. Against the 49ers, they were down 3-0 and had another scoreless opening period.

"I do start slowly," admitted Hadl, "but I don't know why. I don't have any hangups about it, though.

"Of course, San Francisco had something to do with it today. Thyy did a good job of stopping our run early in the game."

After losing two straight, the Rams now have won two in a row and appear to be rolling again. On the basis of their first 10 games, they will be favored in their final four contests.

Jim Bertelsen, the Rams' outstanding second-year running back from Texas, explained his team's success.

"We do best when we stick to the basic plays," he noted.

'Mr. X' Of Pro Golf Has A Solid Mark

PINEHURST, N. C. (UPI) — Chunky, balding Miller Barber, the "Mr. X" of pro golf for years, has finally put a record on the ledger that's likely to stand a long, long time.

Barber's record is pocketing the biggest chunk of money — $100,000-that any golfer ever won for a single event. Ironically, the record will stand because the marathon eight-round format that brought him the money has been crossed off as a failure.

This year, the World Open Golf Championship lasted 144 holes and had a purse of $500,000. Next year, plans call for a standard 72 holes and a purse of about $300,000, with $75,000 going to the victor, still the richest event on the tour.

If this year's tourney, which wound up Saturday, had gone only 72 holes, Gibby Gilbert would be the man putting $100,000 in the bank today instead of Barber. But Gilbert finished in a five-way tie for 15th place after 144 holes, good for only $5,812. If it had ended after six rounds, as some have suggested, young tour sophomore Tom Watson wouldhave the $100,000, but he wound up in a tie for fourth with $17,000.

Barber would have been seventh if the tourney ended at 72 holes, a solid finish such as he's had time after time in 16 years on the PGA tour but nowhere near the money and the glamour associated with copping golf's richest prize.

"I just tried to whip the golf course," he said. "If you do that, you beat a lot of people."

The people he beat included most of the big names in golf, with the notable exceptions of Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Tomm Weiskopf, whose decisions not to play in this year's event at Pinehurst Country Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and in the change of format — and change of dates from chilly November to warm September — for next year.

Browns' Defense Dominates

OAKLAND (UPI) — It was Cleveland's finest hour of an upside down season and the Browns deserved every minute of it.

"When you beat a good team like Oakland," said assistant coach Richie McCabe in the wake of Cleveland's 7-3 victory, "you've done something. We didn't do it by doing just one thing good. We played well in every way."

That the Browns did, and then some, holding Oakland's running game to 97 yards and the passing to 75.

The Browns, back in their own AFC Central Division race and more than just alive for a wild card berth to the NFL playoffs, didn't do a whole lot better than the Raiders with 158 rushing yards and 68 passing but they made good on their only scoring chance.

FINE DEFENSE

What also counts is the fine defensive effort by the Cleveland front four of Joe Jones, Walter Johnson, Jerry Sherk and Nick Roman.

The four spent almost as much time in the Raider backfield as the Oakland running backs and that's what tipped the scales in Cleveland's favor on a cold und windy afternoon.

Mike Phipps threw the ball only 17 times while Ken Stabler had 33 attempts for the Raiders. Phipps' big one was a seven-yarder to Fair Hooker on the fourth play of the second quarter. The throw accounted for the game's only touchdown.

SCORING DRIVE

The scoring drive consumed 13 plays and covered 80 yards. Phipps said he called an audible on the touchdown throw.

"We caught them in a blitz on what looked to them, I guess, like a running play," said the Cleveland quarterback. "That left Hooker one-on-one with Willie Brown and Fair beat his man."

The Raiders had two scoring chances. The first one came in the third quarter but George Blanda missed on a 43-yard field goal try. The second came with less than five minutes remaining in the game and this time Blanda booted a 23-yarder for Oakland's only points.

PENALTIES HURT

"What beat us is that we couldn't get field position," said Oakland Coach John Madden.

"Things really have turned around for us. Two weeks ago we led our division by a game and now we're in third place. But the situation isn't hopeless because we still have to play the two teams ahead of us."

The two are the Kansas City Chiefs and Denver Broncos. Kansas City now leads the AFC West with a 6-3-1 record, Denver is second at 5-3-2 and Oakland is third at 5-4-1.

Meloche Keys 2-0 Seals Win

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Thanks largely to young goaltender Gilles Meloche, California's Golden Seals have won their first game on the road.

Meloche stopped 27 shots last night as the Segals upended the Buffalo Sabres 2-0 in the National Hockey League. Meloche's first shutout of the season snapped a seven-game string of losses on the road.

He stopped six shots in the first period, 10 in the second and 11 in the third, only two of them difficult. In the second period he stopped a gliding shot by Rene Robert that almost slipped in and in the third period he slapped down a hard back-hand by Craig Ramsey.

Until that game, Meloche had a 4.02 goals against average in 13 games with the Seals.

Ivan Boldirev scored the Seals' first goal at 7:59 of the first period with an unassisted backhander from the edge of the faceoff circle. The Seals' other goal was at 10:39 of the second period — a 10-footer by Hilliard Graves.

The Seals' next game is Wednesday in New York against the Rangers.

The Top Prep Stars Converge On Marin

The best high school cross country runners from Northern California — including one acknowledged as the best in the state — will be in Marin tomorrow afternoon for the North Coast Section meet at Lake Lagunitas.

A wide-open race for the varsity team championship is expected, with San Rafael, Redwood and Petaluma high schools among the contenders. Invaders are favored in the freshman-sophomore race, but Tamalpais is expected to sweep the girls competition.

The varsity race will be held at approximately 3:15 p.m. over a 2.9-mile course which includes a steep hill and three creeks, perhaps swollen by rain. The 2.1-mile frosh-soph race will be held at 3 p.m., and the 1.5-mile girls race (actually an invitational event rather than an official NCS championship) will begin the day's activities at 2:45 p.m.

Rich Kimball of De La Salle High in Concord is the overwhleming favorite in the boys varsity race. He won last week's Division I race by some 30 seconds. He probably will break the nine-minute barrier for two miles in track next spring and is "the best distance runner in the state,' according to San Rafael coach Dave Dwight.

Behind him, however, the picture becomes cloudy. "The difference between second and, say, 20th may be a matter of only 10 or 15 seconds," Dwight said.

High finishes may be expected of Jon Sisle of Petaluma, Ray Green of San Rafael and Dave Brainerd of Redwood, who ran one-two-three in last week's Division III meet.

Outsiders with potential include Tom Read of Mission San Jose of Fremont, who was second to Kimball and Roy Kissan of San Ramon of Danville, a junior who won Division II.

Unlike last year, when Redwood won with ease, the team championship this year will be hotly contested. Mount Diablo of Concord has won many major invitational meets, but in Division II finished behind Pleasant Hill and barely ahead of San Ramon. Kennedy of Fremont won Division I easily with

Drake Gridders Beat San Marin

By TOM THOMPSON

Coming back from a heartbreaking loss the week before Drake High School shut out San Marin, 10-0, in a Marin County Athletic League football game Saturday in Kentfield.

The Pirates, who lost an MCAL co-championship last Saturday to Redwood, 7-6, ended their most successful season in five years with a 4-2 league record. San Marin ended its league season in last place at 1-5, but with an identical 5-5 overall record to Drake's.

Playing before about 700 drenched fans at the College of Marin, the Pirates turned their heads away from the Saturday before and toward a bright future. Four backs due to return next year combined for 116 yards through the mud with junior Ross Perry accounting for 69 of them.

Another Drake junior, quarterback Terry Fahey, threw for 105 yards for a team that didn't understand that wind and rain is supposed to stifle offensive play.

Tight-end Corky Ingraham, one senior the Pirates will surely miss next year, caught all of Fahey's passes, including a quick strike of 50 yards in the second quarter through the middle for a touchdown.

The other Drake score, and the only one it really needed was a 23 yard field goal by junior Mike Dittman on the Pirates' first possession. Starting on its own 23 yard line, Drake drove to San Marin's four in 12 plays, but after Fahey was thrown for a loss, the Pirates settled for a field goal.

The loss closed a most disappointing season for San Marin. Sweeping through three preseason contests without a loss, the Mustangs dropped their first three league games by close margins and never recovered. Today they find themsleves alone in last place, a half a game behind Tamalpais (1-4-1).

Marin Tars Drop Football Windup, 24-7

By TOM THOMPSON

In a game marred by 25 fumbles and a water-saturated field, College of Marin's football team fell to Camino Norte Conference cochampion De Anza College of Cupertino, 24-7 in Kentfield Saturday.

De Anza gave the ball up five times on 15 fumbles, while Marin coughed up half of its 10. "No telling what the outcome of the game would have been if the field had been dry," said Marin coach Dick Read.

Completing their most successful season since 1968, the Tars ended up with a 2-4 CNC record and are 4-5 on the season. De Anza, tieing Contra Costa of San Pablo for the title, ended at 5-1 and 6-4. About 100 fans watched the CNC game.

All the game's scoring came in the first half. The Tars took a 7-6 lead into the second quarter by matching a 60-yard punt return by De Anza's Jeff Jones for a touchdown, with a 70-yard fumble runback by Steve Withers. Withers killed a long De Anza drive with the recovery.

The Dons took the lead for good however, in the second quarter's initial drive when Ben Quinn ended a 66-yard march with a three-yard rush.

Quinn, after Marin Martinez had made the score 18-7 on a 12-yard reception of a Fred Scaler pass, scored the game's final touchdown on a one-yard plunge with 12 seconds left in the half.

SHOWER — Dashing through a spray of mud and rain, College of Marin quarterback Mike Sanderson (14) tried to avoid a tackler from De Anza of Cupertino during Saturday's Camino Norte Conference game in Kentfield. The Tars lost, 24-7, but nonetheless concluded their most successful season since 1968 with a 2-4 conference record and 4-5 overall mark.

Officials, Denver Open AFC Races

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Denver Broncos, the Cleveland Browns and a controversial official's call have combined to set up one heckuva race in the American Football Conference.

The Broncos, the only American Conference club which has never participated in post-season play, moved into solid contention for a playoff slot yesterday as they upset the Pittsburgh Steelers 23-13.

Pittsburgh's loss, combined with Cleveland's stunning 7-3 upset of the Oakland Raiders and Cincinnati's hairbreadth 20-14 victory over the New York Jets when an official disallowed two apparent Joe Namath touchdown passes in the final minute, set up a hectic final month in the AFC Central as three clubs are within two games of first.

With the score tied 13-13, Jim Turner kicked a 46-yard field goal which bounced over the crossbar to give Denver a 16-13 lead and Charley Johnson sealed the win when he threw two yards to tight end Riley Odoms late in the game. Floyd Little also had a 10-yard TD run for the Broncos, now unbeaten in their last six games, while Terry Hanratty provided the lone Steeler TD with a 42-yard pass to Ron Shanklin.

"We caught Pittsburgh at the right time and that gives us more momentum to face our next two opponents," Denver Coach John Ralston said.

Mike Phipps threw a seven-yard TD pass to Fair Hooker early in the second quarter and Cleveland's defense made it stand up against the Raiders.

The victory left the Browns 1 ½ games behind Pittsburgh and knocked the Raiders out of a first-place tie with Kansas City to third in the AFC West behind Denver.

Cincinnati took a 17-0 lead over the Jets and held a 20-14 advantage when Namath, who's been out since Sept 23 with a shoulder separation, entered the game. Namath, who hit 6-of-13 for 98 yards, had his first drive stopped by a fumble. But he hit passes of 21 and 16 yards to Rich Caster, 31 to Eddie Bell and 10 again to Caster to bring the ball to the one. An offside penalty moved the ball to the six-inch line with 19 seconds left but Cliff McClain was stopped short of the goalline and time ran out on the Jets.

Jet Coach Weeb Ewbank, who chased the officials across the field after the game, was critical of two calls — some which ruled Caster out of bounds in the end zone and the other on Namath's final completion to Caster which was ruled at the one instead of a TD.

"Richard was in twice," Ewbank fumed afterward.

Elsewhere, Kansas City bombed Houston 38-14, Miami shut out Buffalo 17-0, Dallas ripped Philadelpia 31-10, Washington downed Baltimore 22-14, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 31-13, New England stunned Green Bay 33-24, the New York Giants overcame St. Louis 24-13, San Diego edged New Orleans 17-14 and Detroit trounced Chicago 30-7. Minnesota is at Atlanta tonight.

Redwood Closes With 32-0 Win

By DAVE DEL GRANDE

The Redwood High School football Giants overcame ankle-deep mud and a driving wind to score 26 second quarter points while shutting out Marin Catholic's Wildcats, 32-0, Saturday before 600 fans in Greenbrae.

In a non-league game marred with fumbles (12) and penalties (10), the Marin County Athletic League co-champion Giants displayed their explosiveness. Two of the four touchdowns in the period were scored by Giant quarterback John Troppmann on runs of eight and nine yards. The other two scores came only 24 seconds apart when, after fullback Bill Edralin had gone one yard for six points and Marin Catholic had fumbled the ensuing kickoff, Troppmann passed to halfback Mark Richter for a 33-yard score. The game's only other score came late in the third period when Redwood's Doug MacRae alertly scooped up an errant Wildcat pitch and went 58 yards for a touchdown.

Meanwhile, the Redwood defense was holding the Wildcats' offense to just 46 net yards. Marin Catholic once reached the Redwood eight yard line but failed to score on four running plays. The Giants' defense was led by the play of sophomore linebacker Dave Hoffmire, who intercepted two passes, recovered one fumble, and made numerous hard tackles.

"It was a complete team effort," quoted Redwood head coach Phil Roark, who played every available player. "I was surprised we could score that much in the mud."

The game marked the end of the football season for both teams. Redwood finished the season 8-2 and the league 5-1, taking the co-championship with Novato. Marin Catholic ended its season with a respectable 3-5-1 record.

It's No Jinx

NEW YORK (UPI) — Triple crown winner Secretariat lost two races at a mile and an eighth in the spring and summer of 1973 but that's not exactly a jinx distance for him. In the 1⅛ mile Marlboro Cup at Belmont Sept. 15, he set a world record of 1:45 2.5 on a track rated as "good" — just one step better than "muddy" and one worse than "fast."

Tar Harriers Take 10th In State Meet

SAN MATEO — The good news and the bad news were the same news for College of Marin's cross country team Saturday. The Tars finished 10th in the state meet, which sounds good, but they were last among the 10 teams, which doesn't.

"I'm not disappointed at all," said coach Tony Bailey. "Just getting there was a great accomplishment. And Pete Sweeney and Mike Killeen did real well for us."

Sweeney finished 10th in 20:27 on the 4.0-mile course near the campus of College of San Mateo. Terry Cotton of Grossmont College of El Cajon won in 19:35, some 27 seconds ahead of his nearest rival.

Cotton led Grossmont to the team championship with 89 points, barely ahead of El Camino of Torrance (91) and San Jose City (96). Marin had 202.

Killeen finished 22nd in 20:45. Also scoring for Marin were Kian McCarthy, 66th, John Ladd, 68th, and Eric Moller, 69th. Brian Woodhouse finished 70th and Dan Turek 74th.

All except Ladd are freshmen and will be back next year, which Bailey acknowledged is one of the reasons he is not disappointed.

Lacrosse Meeting

The Marin Lacrosse Club will hold a general meeting open to the public tomorrow night at 7:30 in the meeting room of the Cooperative Shopping Center in Corte Madera. Teams will be formed for the 1974 season.

Top Of Bay Ticket Outlets

Tickets for the second annual Top of the Bay Bowl football game will be available at all the schools in the participating leagues and at Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop in San Rafael, game manager Bob Troppmann announced this morning.

Tickets cost $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students for the game, scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at Bailey Field at Santa Rosa Junior College.

The game matches undefeated North Bay League champion Petaluma (9-0) against Marin County Athletic League co-champion Novato (7-3).

Drayer Team Victorious In Bowling Play

After four bowlers on each team rolled three games and knocked down over 2,000 pins, there was only a one-pin difference separating first and second place in the Marin County Bowling Association seventh annual Mixed Team Tournament, which concluded last night at Nave Lanes in Ignacio.

The Dave Drayer team rolled games of 659, 733 and 793, plus a handicap of 267, for a total of 2,452, while the Rich Akers team scored 632-757-677-385—2,451.

Bowling with Drayer were his wife, Sandi, and Jay Harris and Cleo Hughes. Joining Akers were his wife Sheila and Jane Plowman and Tim Faber.

Top finishers:

1, Dave Drayer-Sandi Drayer-Jay Harris-Cleo Hughes, 2,185-267—2,452; 2, Rich Akers-Sheila Akers-Jane Plowman-Tim Faber, 2,066-385—2,451; 3, Charles Taylor-Lena Taylor-John Ferris-Vida Ferris, 1,978-757—2,424; 4, "Wood You Believers," Darlene Miller-Diane Gibbs-Bob Worden-Rocky Thomas, 1,873-549—2,422; 5, "P.P.s," Paul Panholzer-Gerri Screechfield-Maury Katz-Sylvia Katz, 2,036-378—2,414.

Drake Frosh Win

Drake High School's freshman football team posted its third straight shutout and clinched second place in the Marin County Athletic League at 3-1-1 Saturday with a 12-0 victory over visiting Redwood.

Hockey Pee Wees Win 1st Game, 6-5

Andy Bachich tallied four goals and Maurice Gamboa scored the game-winner with seven seconds left yesterday as the Marin Amateur Hockey Club pee wees (1-6-1) won their first game of the year, a 6-5 conquest of host Berkeley.

In other Northern California Amateur Hockey League games, the bantams lost at Berkeley, 8-1, while the mites and squirts were defeated by Santa Rosa in games at Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera, 11-0 and 15-2, respectively.

Redwood Water Polo Team Bows

LOS ALTOS — Redwood High School's water polo team was defeated twice Saturday and eliminated from the Northern California Invitational Tournament at Foothill College.

The unseeded Giants, who qualified by winning the Marin County Athletic League with a 12-0 record, were beaten by fifth-seeded Santa Clara, 15-1, and unseeded Menlo-Atherton, 10-8.

"Santa Clara really outswam us," said Redwood coach Dennis Untermann. "We just didn't have enough people who could swim as fast as they could.

"Our goalie, Craig Schwarberg, was totally unbelievable. The score would have been three times as much with a normal goalie. Of the eight teams we saw, there was no doubt he was the class of the meet — every coach there was asking about him.

"Our second game was a well-swum game. The kids came back well," Untermann said. MCAL record-setting scorer Tom Schindler, who had the lone goal in the Santa Clara game, scored five against Menlo-Atherton. Dave Ruseell added three and Tom Pickett "let his weight be felt on defense." Redwood carried an 8-7 lead into the fourth quarter before losing.

Ottawa, Edmonton Meet For Grid Title

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Ottawa Rough Riders will meet the Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup —the Canadian Football League's Super Bowl — next Sunday at Toronto following their victories yesterday in the East and West division playoffs.

Ottawa clinched the CFL East title with a 23-14 victory over the Montreal Alouettes while Edmonton took the top spot in the west with a last minute,25-23 win over the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Redwood Prevails In Pop Warner

FULLERTON — The Redwood Gremlins football team made sure the ride back from here would be as much fun as the ride down by demolishing the Fullerton Giants Saturday, 24-0, in the post-season, Pop Warner Fullerton Bowl game at Lions Club Park.

The Gremlins, champions of the Marin-Sonoma Junior Pop Warner League, struck for three touchdowns in the first half. Eric Spivey scored on a 23-yard run and a 42-yard pass from Doug Ongaro, while Make Hall dashed 68 yards on a counter play for another T.D.

Any Fullerton comeback hopes were smashed when Redwood marched with the second-half kickoff, Bov Falk scoring on an 18-yard burst up the middle. Falk carried seven times for 61 yards on the drive.

In addition, a six-yard scoring run by Hall and a 55-yard T.D. jaunt by Neil Stokes were called back by penalties.

"(Guards) Paul Oda and John Teeling consistently opened big holes in the Fullerton defensive line," said Gremlin coach Larry Solari. "The defensive line anchored by guards Bob Wolffe and Bob Guitd, tackles Dike Merriman and Rob Vallee and ends Mike Waters and Don Rasmussen only allowed Fullerton one first down in the first half."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

the same personnel which gave it the NCS frosh-soph title two years ago.

Division III champion San Rafael thinks enough of its chances to keep sophomore Brooke Chesnut on varsity instead of dropping him to frosh-soph. The Bulldogs' Tom Stibich is likely to be in that mob from second to 20th. So are Petaluma's Mike Sabouran and Dan Aldridge.

In the frosh-soph race, Miramonte of Orinda ran away with Division II after dropping two good sophomores from the varsity. Mission San Jose easily won Division I. Redwood and San Rafael will contend for spots in the top five.

El Cerrito's Albert King, the Division I winner, is the individual favorite. Division III champ Glenn Borland of Del Norte of Crescent City will challenge him, as will San Rafael's Steve Roberts and Redwood's Hal Schulz. Tamalpais star Aran Collier is eligible because his team qualified, but did not run in the league or divisional meets because of a broken arm.

Tamalpais' virtually unbeatable girls team has removed all the suspense from that team race. Pleasant Hill, Redwood and San Rafael will battle for second place in the field which may include representatives from up to 50 schools, if everybody responds.

Tam's Kate Keyes will continue her furious individual duel with Pleasant Hill's Kathy Costello, who defeated her by a few feet twice earlier this year. Kate won the NCS girls "exhibition" race last year.

Linda Broderick and Maggie Keyes also are premier runners for Tam, and Redwood's Wendy Severinghaus will probably complete the top five. Bonnie Broderick and Theresa Bertolino complete Tam's team.

The meet director is Jim Van der Beets of San Marin High.

DECISION REVERSED

Terra Linda Bows In Soccer Twist

SAN FRANCISCO — In a bizarre turn of events, Terra Linda High School's soccer team Saturday lost a Tournament of Champions game it thought it had won on Friday.

Confusion over the tie-breaking procedure resulted in the Trojans returning to the field Saturday morning and losing to Campolindo of Moraga in a first-round game.

Saturday's finals, which were to pit the Trojans against Stagg of Stockton for third place and Campolindo against Mission of San Francisco for first place, were postponed until Dec. 1 because of rain and wet grounds.

Terra Linda and Campolindo had tied at the end of regulation play Friday, 1-1. Two regular overtime periods and two sudden-death periods failed to resolve the issue, so the tournament's penalty kick rule was applied.

Each team was allowed five kicks by five different players. Mark McCarthy, Dan Bowman, Steve Constable and Gordon Hedemark scored for Terra Linda, but four Campolindo players tallied, and the game was again tied.

On the second series of five kicks, Jon Mann, Bart Bright and Jack Crimmins scored for Terra Linda, giving the Trojans an apparent 8-7 victory and a place in the finals.

Terra Linda coach Bob Vasser received a phone call from tournament officials Friday night, however, saying the second penalty kick series actually was sudden death, and since Campolindo's first kick was good and Terra Linda's was not, Campolindo had won.

Vasser persuaded the officials instead to resume the penalty kick series Saturday morning, but it went for naught when Campolindo's first booter scored and Terra Linda's didn't.

It's 'Big Game' Time In West Coast Football

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's so-called "big game" time in the Pacific 8 Conference this Saturday but the only contest that counts is the one pitting Los Angeles Giants Southern California and UCLA for the league title and Rose Bowl berth.

UCLA rolled to its sixth victory without a league loss Saturday, 56-14, over Oregon State, and Southern Cal matched the Bruins with its sixth victory without a defeat by burying Washington, 42-19.

That means when the two old rivals clash in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday it will be for the league title and the right to play either Michigan or Ohio State of the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, Stanford will host California, Oregon State will play at Oregon and Washington State at Washington in traditional rivalries to wind up the season. Stanford whipped Oregon, 24-7, last Saturday while Washington State edged California, 31-28.

San Diugo State wrapped up the Pacific Coast Athletic Association title by routing Fresno State, 41-6, Pacific ended Hawaii's winning streak with a 28-3 decision and Long Beach State defeated Wichita, 35-10, in other western games of note.

It seemed pre-ordained, even before the 1973 season began, that UCLA and USC would be playing for the title in their season-ending game. Stanford made a good run at the two Los Angeles powers before bowing out of the race a week ago in a one-point loss to USC.

In last Saturday's action, UCLA was its usual awesome self, scoring 50 or more points for the sixth time this year. USC was behind by a point 19-18, four minutes into the third quarter before Washington mistakes gave the Trojans the opportunity they needed to make it a rout.

Kermit Johnson became the first UCLA back in history to crack the magic 1,000 yard rushing mark, piling up three TDs in the process to push his season total to 15, one more than Gary Beban's old school record.

Anthony Davis scored his second TD of the game, set up a pass interception, and Ray pass interception, and Ray Rodriguez fell on a fumble in the end zone for two quick scores as USC pulled away from Washington in the third quarter.

Mike Boryla pushed his season TD passing total to 17 with three scoring strikes and Rod Gajcia added his 40th career field goal (an NCAA record) to account for Stanford's points.

Warriors Hope Ailing Cazzie Can Face Bucks

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors visit the Milwaukee Bucks tomorrow night, hoping high-scoring forward Cazzie Russell is recovered from the flu.

Russell, despite his illness, played 21 minutes Saturday night when the Philadelphia 76ers took an upset 109-106 win over the Warriors.

Coach Al Attles finally hud to send Russell to the bench in the third period after he scored 6 points.

The Warriors' Rick Barry took game honors with 28 points.

cluded South African Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Billy Cauqer, Masters champ Tommy Aaron and Lanny Wadkins. Australian Bruce Crampton, second to Jack Nicklaus in money winnings, was cut after the first four rounds along with 165 players.

The $100,000 prize check was more than Barber has won in all but a couple of his years on the tour and better than doubled his winnings for this year to $178,000. He has won seven other tournaments, but confessed that he has "blown" most of the big ones — the Masters and U.S. Open, for example — right at the end.

He stood two strokes behind Watson going into the eighth and final round, but Watson was overwhelmed with bogeys — seven of them enroute to a fat 77 reminiscent of the final round 75 he shot to lose the Hawaiian Open.

After a couple of double bogeys by Bobby Mitchell, who started the final round tied for second with Barber at four-over par, two strokes behind Watson, the event shaped up as a match between the 42-year-old Barber and young Crenshaw, going after his second victory in as many tournaments since winning a PGA card just prior to the San Antonio Texas Open.

Simple Rites For Mangrum

Combined AP & UPI

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. — Services for Lloyd Mangrum, whose 40 major tournament victories in a two-decade career made him one of golf's big three in the 1940s along with Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, will be simple and brief.

Following his wishes, the only services for the Texas-born golf pro elected to the Professional Golfers Association Hall of Fame in 1964 will be a short ceremony tomorrow for family and friends at the country club where he spent many of his last years. Mangrum's body will be cremated.

Mangrum, 59, died Saturday night of a heart attack. He was stricken at his rambling ranch-style home overlooking the Apple Valley Country Club Golf Course.

Tennis

LONDON — Tom Okker yesterday downed Ilie Nastase of Romania, 6-3, 6-4 and won the men's first prize of $7,200 in the Dewar Cup tournament, while Virginia Wade of Britain topped American Julie Heldman 6-2, 3-6, and 7-5 to take the women's singles title in an international tennis tournament.

MELBOURNE — Rod Laver and John Newcombe carried Australia to the final round of the Davis Cup tennis competition, beating Czechoslovakia 4-1 in semifinal singles action. Australia will meet the United States in the finals.

Auto Racing

MACAO — Hong Kong's John MacDonald shattered his own record and his third Macao Grand Prix title yesterday.

MacDonald, driving a Brabham BT40, finished the 152-mile course in 1 hour 45 minutes 35.97 seconds, beating the previous record he set last year when he won the Grand Prix in 2:00:18.64. He averaged 86.36 miles per hour and collected $6,000 for his victory.

Today is Monday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1973 with 42 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

American explorer George Rogers Clark was born Nov. 19, 1752.

On this day in history:

In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered the Gettysburg Address on the Civil War battlefield in Pennsylvania.

In 1874, William Marcy Tweed, leader of New York's Tammany Hall, was sentenced to 12 years in prison for defrauding the city of $12 million.

Also in 1874, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Cleveland, Ohio.

In 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the Treaty of Versailles, drawn up by the Paris peace conference at the end of World War I.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson told the U.S. Senate, "There must be, not a balance of power, but a community of power... not organized rivalries, but an organized common peace."

Never Rely On Your Opponents To Bring A Gift To The Table

Since West didn't look a bit like Santa Claus, his club opening lead should have warned South of danger. It is normal for a defender to lead the unbid suit, and when he leads a suit your side has bid, you should suspect that he is hoping to get a ruff. If you disregard this danger signal, you can't complain that this column didn't warn you.

Opening lead — ♣ 6

SINGLETON CLUB

West led the singleton club, and South foolishly finessed with dummy's queen. East won with the king of clubs and returned the nine of clubs.

West ruffed and correctly read the nine of clubs (a high card) as an indication that East wanted a return in the high rather than the low side suit. West therefore returned a heart rather than a diamond. (South's bidding also made it clear that East was most unlikely to want a diamond return.)

LOSING DIAMOND

East took the ace of hearts and led another club. South had to ruff high, and could then draw trumps. At this stage, dummy had two good clubs on which South could discard diamonds. This left him with a losing diamond, and the contract was therefore defeated.

Cautious play would bring the contract home. Declarer takes the ace of clubs at thh first trick, draws three rounds of trumps and then knocks out the king of clubs.

RETURNS DIAMOND

East returns a diamond, and South finesses with the queen, losing to the king. West must now shift to hearts. East takes the ace of hearts and leads another diamond, but South needs no further finesses. He takes the ace of diamonds, leads a heart to dummy and cashes two good clubs to discard the two losing diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one club.

The next player passes, and you hold:

♥ - A K Q 10
♥ - 8 2
♦ - A Q 10 6 5
♣ - 7 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Big one diamond.

Begin with your longer suit when you have a choice.

Panel To Study Problems Named

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Saturday announced appointment of a 35-member, blue-ribbon "Commission on Critical Choices for America." While an immediate program was not issued, it appeared the panel's first assignment would be to study the causes and cures of the energy crisis.

Rockefeller, who was named to head the commission by President Nixon, said its aim was "to ascertain the critical problems that confront America and to examine alternative choices for meeting them." There will be an organizational meeting Dec. 4 and 5.

Arts Quartet Sets Concerts

The Marin Arts Quartet will give three concerts at Dominican College in the next six months.

The quartet will perform at Angelico Hall at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 6; 3 p.m. March 31, and 7:30 p.m. May 12, according to a college spokesman.

Members of the group are Charles Meacham, violin; Jean Mitchell, violoncello; Lucien Mitchell, viola and Mark Jordan, violin.

Ticket informaion is available at the college.

Madrid Robbers Get $476,000

MADRID (UPI) — A holdup gang seized $476,000 in cash and checks from a bank van in the heart of Madrid today, police said.

Police sources called it the biggest street robbery in Spanish history. They said the loot included $300,000 in cash and the rest in checks.

Oil Fears Send Stocks Tumbling On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concern that the Arabs may be stiffening their oil embargo against the United States cut stock prices sharply on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was active.

Analysts said the decline was a further demonstration of Wall Street's extreme sensitivity to any sign of change in the energy outlook — either for better or worse. Over the weekend, the Arabs eased their oil embargo for Europe during the month of December, but cautioned they intend to maintain stiff export restrictions against the United Etates.

The Arab's tough stance increases the chances of imminent gasoline rationing, according to analysts.

In addition, administration fuel adviser Charles Dibona told Congress today a ban on Sunday driving is a very real possibility.

Hardest hit on the list were energy-sensitive issues, including motors.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stocks Likely To Appreciate

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have recently inherited $9,000 which I would like to invest. Since I am in my 40s and employed, I am interested in stocks for growth over a 5-to-10-year period. Would you advise me on what to buy? — R.K.

A. Two stocks which appear to have excellent long-term potential are: Burlington Northern (NYSE) and Microwave Associates (NYSE). Even dollar amounts in each issue would allow purchase of 100 BNI and 200 MAI. The former pays $1.50 in dividends annually, while the latter has never paid a dividend.

Burlington Northern is attractive on several counts, most being tied to the current energy crisis. With gasoline in short supply, rails are expected to take on an increasing share of freight now handled by the trucking industry.

Furthermore, not only does BNI lease 300,000 acres of coal-rich land to mining companies but this railroad also serves areas which hold more than half the country's coal reserves. In the near future it appears probable that ecologically sound methods will be found to exploit the nation's large supply of coal as an alternative fuel.

Moreover, Burlington controls 8.5 million acres of land including 2.4 million acres of fee land with rights for timber grazing, oil production and mineral development. Oil and mineral rights are held on the balance. Earnings this year will apparently not match those of 1972, reflecting flood damage in the second quarter and the delay until August in being granted a rate boost.

Microwave has moved sideways in the market. The shares are currently trading at half their historic price earnings ratio based on an estimate of $1.80 a share for the year ended Sept. 30, 1973. In the first nine months, the company managed to boost sales 10 per cent year to year despite a sharp decline in volume from the Safeguard missile program. Microwave's position in the high-technology industry, particularly in the field of telecommunications, should continue to advance earnings. Market recognition of the company's potential should not be too far distant.

Shopping Center Complex Planned In Rohnert Park

A $50 million business and shopping center on 103 acres of land is being planned in Rohnert Park on the east side of Highway 101 at Rohnert Park expressway, where a Safeway store and Texaco service station are already located.

The development is a joint venture by Cofego Enterprises of Rohnert Park, headed by Paul Golis; Mason-McDuffie Co. and Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Plans include a large office building, about 400 apartments, a motel-hotel building (possibly Howard Johnson) and a restaurant. The developers are negotiating with McDonald's Restaurant for an outlet there.

The office building and apartments are expected to be ready in mid-1974. The developers are also retailing the land for anyone who wants to open a business there and will also lease land and build to suit.

NORTHGATE MALL LIGHTS DUE FRIDAY

Lights on the Northgate Mall will be turned on Friday evening to open the center's Christmas program, but will be off after that night because of the energy crisis.

The San Rafael Assembly of God 30-voice choir will sing exerpts from Handel's Messiah and Christmas carols from North America and all over the world at 7:30 p.m.

The only possible exception to the lights out plan may be Christmas Eve, according to merchants.

Britain Cuts Oil Sales 10 Per Cent

LONDON (UPI) — Britain today introduced a 10 per cent cut "across the board" in deliveries of all main oil products.

Peter Walker, secretary of trade and industry, stopped short of direct rationing of gasoline and home heating oil to the consumer.

But he told the House of Commons oil and gasoline supplies will be cut by government order by 10 per cent.

Deliveries to gas stations will be cut by this figure as well as deliveries to users of all other major forms of oil products.

"This will be implemented from tomorrow," Walker said.

He said the public would be asked to cut weekend driving to a minimum, but imposed no ban. He said the nation would also be asked to "impose upon itself a speed limit of 50 miles per hour," but again gave no speed limit order.

Two Brothers Face Charge Of Auto Theft

Two Tiburon brothers, ages 12 and 14, were arrested yesterday in Belvedere for auto theft and burglary, police said.

Belvedere police report that they went to the Crest Road area at about 9 a.m. where the neighbors said the boys were throwing items into bushes. Police said that after finding the two, they discovered two coats, a flashlight and keys in the underbrush.

The boys' car parked nearby had no license, police said, and further investigation determined that the auto was stolen Saturday night in Tiburon.

Police said that the boys later confessed to four burglaries in Strawberry. They were taken to Marin County Juvenile Hall. (Names of juveniles are withheld on a standing order of Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.)

Engineer Says Rice Hulls Can Be Made Into Cement

BERKELEY (UPI) — A University of California professor has come up with a two-in-one solution for a worldwide problem by discovering a way to turn rice hulls into a cheap, but high-quality cement.

P. Kumar Mehta, professor of engineering science and a native of India, says his new process will not only solve a huge garbage disposal problem, but also provide much-needed building materials.

"The disposal problem in the developing countries is acute, and there is a tremendous shortage of cement, especially in the rural areas where most of the people live," Mehta said.

"In India, for example, about two million tons of cement could be made from the annual rice crop."

About 60 million tons of rice hulls are produced worldwide annually when the grain is milled.

Mehta found that by burning the hulls in a controlled temperature furnace, he obtained an ash with high silica content which combines readily with lime to form cement.

Tests of the cement show it is as strong as portland cement and more acid-resistant. It is also appealing for architectural purposes because of its rich, black color, in contrast to the grey of portland cement.

Mehta believes his technique of cement production would be well-suited for developing nations because the process uses simple equipment and is applicable to small-scale, rural-based plants.
